Lookout!

Ice hockey and racquet sports account for the majority of all eye injuries. But a war game can be just as tragic if the gelatin pellet fired from one of the play guns hits a player in the eye. While all sports carry a risk of serious eye injury or blindness, with proper protection, virtually all sports related eye injuries are preventable. Make eye safety a priority. Please use recommended protective eye equipment such as safety glasses, goggles, helmets and face masks for your sport - whatever your game.

Capital projects to include Main Street construction and a new twin pad arena

"There is no tax increase to the budget and there is no debenturing. This is the beginning of the pay as you go philosophy. You should be proud of that."

He said about 1,000 new homes are estimated to spring up yearly in town, carrying a development charge fee of about $6 million.

And refusing to carry debt while the cash flow is there to avoid it will save the Town money overall, said Town Treasurer Jim McQueen.

"If we didn't have the slot money, we would likely have had to look at debt," he added.

But growth-related cash flow fluctuations means there may be times when the Town needs to borrow.

"We can never balance out exactly in the growth department," said Mr. McQueen. "You can't predict down to the last building permit."

Some large capital projects approved by the committee include $2 million for road reconstruction of Main Street between James Snow Parkway and Thompson Road, and almost $2 million for the construction of a new twin pad arena.

And $1 million has been slated for the development of village square parks by developers in growth areas.

Another $400,000 has been set aside for the design and development of civic facilities, including the library, while $300,000 has been designated to improve the Rotary Park community centre and outdoor pool.

And the downtown core will receive $625,000 for streetscaping on Main Street between James Street and Charles Street.
