The Milton and district chapter of the Canadian Federation of University Women (CFUW) will hold its annual Used Book Sale April 20 from 1 to 9 p.m. and April 21 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. at Milton Mall.

The money raised will go toward university scholarships for Milton high school students.

Each year, the Milton chapter of the CFUW, a national organization of female university graduates, awards up to $2,000 in scholarships to help students with the rising cost of higher education. The book sale is the club's chief fundraiser.

The sale will feature books by Danielle Steel, Dean Koontz, Stephen King and Robert Ludlum. The sale will also feature cook books, biographies and history books, as well as children's books.

The club is still looking for donations, so drop off gently-used books at the CFUW bin at Milton Public Library or the bin inside the mall near the former Loblaw's, located across from the Bank of Montreal.

Community Day looking for volunteers

Want to help out a neighbour by doing a good deed?

Here's the perfect opportunity. The ninth annual Good Neighbours Community Day will be held May 5.

Teams of volunteers are needed to spend a few hours in the morning helping a senior citizen or individuals by completing simple tasks.

Jobs include washing windows, painting a room, helping with yard work or participating in clean up activities of waterways, parks or roadsides in Milton.

During the past eight years, approximately 1,500 volunteers, including adults and youths, have participated in Good Neighbours Community Day.

Local businesses, service clubs, Halton

Regional Police, RCMP and the Town of Milton have also provided support for the event.

This year's volunteers will assemble at the Milton Seniors' Activity Centre at 8 a.m. and start the day with a barbecue breakfast.

For more information, call Robert Dallimore 875-4636.
