you weigh one against the other. It's hard to measure community involvement."

If you help someone out it will come back to you, Ms. Tanner said.

"We're an interconnected community, if you help one person you help everyone. It's an honour to be selected and recognized in the community. It's quite a humbling experience."

Krane feels honoured

When Lianne Krane found out who was nominated along with her for Business Woman of the Year she felt honoured.

"I'm in wonderful company," said the co-owner of Subway Sandwiches and Salads on Market Drive.

"I was very flattered when I found out I was nominated. I don't do what I do to be recognized but it's nice when your business peers recognize the hard work you do and appreciate it."

Ms Krane, along with her husband James, who happens to be nominated for Business Man of the Year, owned the Subway restaurant on Main Street for 11 years until they sold it last year.

They've owned the Market Drive location for five years.

"I like to make people smile," she said.

"If customers come in frowning and grumpy I like them to leave with a smile on their face. I want my customers to be happy."

Ms Krane said the Community Awards are important because it gets people involved in the community.

"We lived in Mississauga and it was too fast paced for us. In Milton you can take a breath of fresh air. I knew this was the place I wanted to live and raise my family."

And will there be any bad blood between herself and her husband if one takes home an award and the other leaves empty handed?

"Oh no," Ms. Krane said, laughing.

"We'll be cheering loudly for each other."

Work of nominees aids many people these tournaments — often featuring some of the top players in the world.

These games, Mr. Walton stressed, keep children connected with things like sportsmanship and fair play that can otherwise be lost on today's computer-addicted youths.

"Kids learn a lot from these games, that's the rewarding part."

Meanwhile, he takes tournament entry fees — either $1 or a non-perishable food item — and donates them to Toronto's Evangel Hall mission, as well as other charities.

The Milton Millennium Community Residence (MMCR) project and the Xcape Youth Drop-in Centre are other beneficiaries of his time and money — as are many local churches and sports teams.

Mr. Walton said he was extremely pleased by the nomination, stating "It's an honour, of course."

The Business Man of the Year award winner will be announced during a gala evening at Granite Ridge Golf Club Saturday, Apr. 21.

Tickets can be purchased at the Milton Chamber of Commerce.
