

Hearthsides Music Series set to kick off

The Halton Museum Foundation's Hearthsides Music Series is set to kick off at the Halton Hills Cultural Centre's John Elliott Theatre in downtown Georgetown.

"This series has something for everyone," said foundation chair Tim Kingsbury. "Whether you enjoy the sounds of the big band swing, Nat King Cole or the 'King', you won't want to miss a single performance."

Juno nominee Kory Livingstone will start the series Saturday when his trio will stage a tribute to Nat King Cole.

Then TVB Productions will bring its internationally-acclaimed presentation of 'The Way It

Was' September 15. Stephen Kabakos, an international award-winning artist, will present Elvis' career from the early Sun Studio recordings through to the army, movie and explosive concert years in a tribute to the king of rock 'n' roll.

The series will wrap up October 20 with a performance by the Whitney Smith Big Steam Band. The 17-piece band is in the style of the great Basie and Ellington bands of the '50s and '60s. The sound is solid swinging jazz mixed in with some hot Latin and sultry rhythm 'n' blues — a spicy combination that give the Big Steam Band its unique crossover sound.

Each show will begin at 8 p.m.

Scotch Block Country Winery will host wine tasting of its award-winning fruit wines an hour prior to each performance in the art gallery adjacent to the John Elliott Theatre.

A portion of the proceeds will be donated to the Halton Museum Foundation to support its ongoing work.

Tickets for each performance cost $23 for adults and $20 for seniors.

A special three-show package is available at $60 for adults and $54 for seniors.

To reserve tickets, call (905) 877-3700.
