Brookville walking path to be built ahead of schedule

Construction bumped up to address safety concerns in area

The creation of a new walking path between Brookville Park and the Churchill Estates development is being built ahead of schedule.

According to Churchill Estates project manager Ron Young, the timeline for the path's construction was bumped up when he heard of a girl struck by a car while walking to the park along Guelph Line.

Five-year-old Sarah Boucher was struck and killed by a car

"Certainly since I was made aware of it, there has been more of an effort for us to try and get it in as soon as possible."

"Certainly since I was made aware of it, there has been more of an effort for us to try and get it in as soon as possible," he said.

The two-metre wide path has already been cut, and is awaiting the spreading of fine stone that will coat the walkway.

When it's complete, the path will link Brookville Park to Inglis

Drive, part of Phase 2 development in the subdivision.

"I just need good weather and no rain to finish it off," Mr. Young added.

The property that the path runs through was handed over to the Town of Milton during Phase 1 of the development.

While the land is currently being used to store top soil for Phase 2, the property will become part of Brookville Park when the development is complete.

"The timeline was bumped up, but it (path) was requested early on through the planning of the subdivision in order to allow people living south of the park to gain access," said Ken McAlpine, Milton's coordinator of parks and facilities development.

"Pathway improvements will assist in minimizing potential safety problems."
