WORRY-FREE TRAVEL WITH HOLIDAY PROTECTION GUARANTEE

Ann Landers once gave this piece of advice for all humanity which seems so appropriate in the current political situation: "Expect trouble as an inevitable part of life, and when it comes, hold your head high. Look it squarely in the eye, and say, I will be bigger than you. You cannot defeat me."

Let's face it folks...for the past eight weeks, unless you have been living in a bubble, most people have been spending their time watching the evening news in anxious anticipation of what tomorrow will bring.

Some of us have even put our lives on hold...waiting to find out how long the war against terrorism is going to last. Fear was apparently the ultimate goal of the terrorists, and based on the state of the changing economy that we witness everyday, a sense of fear and anxiety is most definitely apparent in many households across the country and around the globe.

Many people are justifiably worried about the safety and security of airline travel; others are wondering how this tragedy may effect their own employment and job security. Others again, still marvel in shock at the fact that humanity could commit such a terrorist act.

At Travel Choice American Express, we can appreciate and recognize all of the uncertainty and apprehension towards any type of travel--whether it be national or international. Due to the horrific tragedy of September 11th, airports may be more secure now than they have ever been, but still people are apprehensive about getting on a plane.

At Travel Choice, we are working with a number of suppliers that are offering a "Holiday Protection Guarantee" with your winter vacation booking. The guarantee allows travellers to secure their vacation now, while having the financial protection of a full refund if there are any further terrorist attacks. We are very sensitive to your concerns and will also counsel you on the best available insurance options to put your mind at ease, both prior to your vacation and while you are away. *with participating suppliers, see agency for full details and restrictions.

Now more than ever, it is critical that travellers consider dealing with a company with the security of a Global Presence. If you require more information please contact one of the professional Travel Consultants at Travel Choice American Express, 905-878-2886. The reinsurance you need, from a name you can trust. Travel Choice is located at 16 Martin Street, Milton (formerly Bruce Hood Travel).

Our name has changed but our knowledgeable staff and impeccable service remain the same...We're still here for you with the strength of American Express.
