In The News

With the Holiday Season fast approaching, we should also realize that exams are coming upon us. Students should take note of these important details surrounding exams. Exams will run January 24th - 30th and exam pick up day is on January 31st from 9:00am - 11:00am ONLY. Exams are compulsory. A medical certificate is required if you miss an exam due to illness. Students who fail to comply will receive a zero for the exam. Please do not plan vacations during exam time. In case of inclement weather the schedule will be altered and exams will not be differed for vacations.

Have you bought your yearbook yet? If you have not, Tuesday, November 27th will be the LAST day of sales. Yearbooks cost $30, or you can up-grade and get yours personalized for $3 more or purchase a News inserts for $3 as well. Also, don't forget to buy a raffle ticket from the yearbook team to help make the yearbook better.

We would like to thank everyone who contributed to the "Sight for Sore Eyes" campaign. Although we do not have a final count at this time, we will let you know how many glasses we received in next week's edition. Again, we are astounded by the generosity of MDHS when it comes to campaigns like this one. WAY TO GO STANGS!!!

Do you like sausages and pancakes for breakfast in the morning, but your parents won't make them for you, and you don't want to go to all that effort yourself? Well, during TAP on November 28th, there will be a pancake and sausage breakfast. Tickets will cost $3 for 2 sausages, 2 pancakes and a drink. You can buy tickets in the school store before Wednesday, so Student Council can have numbers for food. No tickets will be sold on PJ day. So just roll out of bed on Wednesday and come to school in those Pjs and enjoy a pancake meal!

Sports Centre

The Milton District Hockey team did not go down without a fight against T.A. Blakelock. Despite a mediocre first two periods the boys came alive in the third period and showed tons of hustle and heart while representing our school. Girls Volleyball and Boys Basketball tryouts are still underway and the season will commence in the coming weeks. We hope for a most successful season in both these fine sports.

We hope you all have a great weekend and join us next week to find out more about the happenings at MDHS!

DATELINE DRURY AT E.C. DRURY HIGH SCHOOL

Welcome to yet another edition of Dateline Drury! We like to keep things fresh and enjoyable for our readers, so this week, we are testing out a new format - enjoy!

Archway to Academia

Greetings and well met, enlightened readers! Welcome to the Archway to Academia - where you shall be informed upon the events that transpire within the academic realm of E.C. Drury.

Preparations are underway for the annual holiday gala, which shall take place on the eve of December the 11th. Come; let our ethereal ensembles escort you on a musical sleigh ride through a harmonious holiday experience. The school Reach team will be gallantly led into the fray next week by their ever handsome and stylish figureheads, Mr. Keane and Mr. Menka. The team will be the epitome of mental dexterity, as they lithely pounce upon their buzzers. Truly, one ought to pity their opponents.

Spartan's Sports Scene:

Okay team, gather 'round! Here's the low-down with the Spartan's Sports happenings - so listen up or gimme twenty!

The girls' volleyball team have been giving it their all - 110% and proving once and for all, there's no "I" in "TEAM" as the teams have been made and are slaving for some action.

On the ice, our mad dog hockey stars are ready to smack their opponents up against the boards during the upcoming season. The boys team annihilated cross-town rivals Milton District last week 4-0 in their first exhibition game of the season. The "Stangs" didn't stand a chance against these passionate athletes. The girls' hockey team travelled all the way to Acton on Wednesday to play their very first exhibition game. With a strong line-up and a dedicated team, these girls are bound and determined to make this season go down in history - Give 'em hell girls! (Details will be available next week)

These teams aren't the only ones showing some great hustle around here over the past week - the SAS took the initiative to get a jump-start on helping the less-fortunate children in war-stricken countries. This totalled over $1200! Once again SAS, you've made Drury very proud.

Konspirator's Korner:

Psst... Hey... Hey you! Yeah, I'm talkin' to you! You don't wanna walk through the "Archway"? Not really into the whole "Sports Scene"? Don't know what to do after school - well you've come to the right "kornet" - this is where we "konspire" to be different.

Yo, got a ring? Anyone who ordered a school ring 8 weeks ago should be getting theirs in the mail by the time this publication hits the streets - but hey, if ya don't like the one ya got? No problemo! Just sell it for profit and no one's the wiser... But hey, if anybody asks? Ya didn't hear it from me. (taps nose)

I know all about you, what you think of this little "Konspirator" - you think I'm a punk! You think I'm slime! Hey, no worries - I agree with ya, but I ain't as slimy as what went on in the locker bay on Wednesday - gallons of gelatin mysteriously appeared in the locker bay on Wednesday. Yours truly went in for a closer look and made off with some of the delicious green and yellow goop. This time, there really wasn't room for more... If you catch my drift... But there was, however, plenty of room for cheer, which the cheerleading squad spread with great effectiveness. It almost made me want to give up the "Konspiracy bidness" know what I mean? Anyways, I'm outta here for now... Remember: They're all out to get you, so stay low and I'll see you next week.

We hope you enjoyed our new format. Come back next week and we hope you have a fun-filled and exciting weekend!
