Early detection remains a crucial factor in detecting breast cancer. High quality mammograms, x-rays of the breast, are the cornerstone for early breast cancer detection and essential in a comprehensive women's health program.

The Milton District Hospital Foundation has embarked on a campaign to raise $220,000 to purchase a new mammography machine to replace an existing older unit. With the new stateof-the-art equipment, the Hospital will be able to provide clearer more accurate mammography results and take advantage of some of the newer breast cancer screening technolo-

"The new mammography unit represents the newest model available and will provide Milton District Hospital with the ability to maintain and expand its diagnostic services," says Merla Johnstone, Manager, Diagnostic Imaging at MDH. "The new machine provides clearer, more detailed images and has reduced the incidence of patients needing to return for repeat tests for clarification. Tests are completed more efficiently resulting in an increase in the number of tests performed over time. The department currently performs 1,600 mammogram examinations a year. Together with ultrasound, special mammography studies, and biopsies, a new mammography unit will help physicians manage breast disease, everyday, right here in Milton."

The fundraising campaign wraps up on Friday, May 3, 2002 at the Foundation's Crystal Ball, the proceeds of which will also be directed towards the campaign. Tickets are selling out fast, call the Foundation today to reserve your seats.
