Business of Year nominees thrilled about recognition

• from BUSINESS on page 9

Inc. is pleased to be part of Milton's success," offered Trent Ogilvie, company president.

"We take pride in our business and our contributions to the community, and just as important is the community's pride in our town. We are honoured to be considered for business of the year," he said.

Mattamy Homes was equally honoured by the nomination. Since 2000, the developer has sold more than a whopping 2,000 residences in Milton.

And the company has given back to the community by sponsoring a number of charities.

"We're thrilled. In our industry, it (community contributions) aren't recognized very much because typically we're in and out of communities," said Katy Schofield, vice-president of the Mattamy Development Co.
