Regardless of where your water supply originates, it will never be entirely pure or soft without first conditioning it. Water acts as a solvent, absorbing impurities and contaminants such as nitrates, iron, limestone, detergents, heavy metals, pesticides, PCB's, etc. By the time we bathe in or drink water, it can also contain chemicals such as chlorine and toxins allowing for unpleasant odours and taste.

From its foundation in 1936, the Culligan name has been synonymous with quality water and now services home, business and industry. With a network of more than 1350 dealers in 90 countries, Culligan continues to feature a diverse range of state-of-the-art products to aid in the distribution, purification, filtration and conditioning of water.

Culligan water conditioning systems create soft water that is more pleasant for everyday use. You'll use less soaps and shampoos, and your laundry will be cleaner, brighter and last longer. Hard water requires up to 25% more energy to heat water due to mineral build-up on the elements, not to mention the damage to water heaters and plumbing fixtures. Culligan saves you salt, energy and money.

A salt delivery service is available in 36kg sizes of rock salt, delivered right to your storage tank (3 bag minimum).

Culligan drinking water systems use the reverse osmosis process to give your family healthy, clear great tasting water.

Call sales manager Terry O'Hare and the staff at Culligan in Milton to arrange a test for your water at no expense and free evaluation of your water quality needs. Competitive financing and rental plans are available. Every product sold is backed by factory trained service.
