Free Education Program on the Prevention and Early Detection of Ovarian Cancer

Members of the public are invited to attend a free 60-minute educational program directed at well women to raise awareness about the signs, symptoms, risks and preventative factors of Ovarian Cancer. "Listen to the Whispers" will be presented on Tuesday, April 23rd from 12:00 to 1:00 p.m. at the Milton District Hospital by the National Ovarian Cancer Association. An ovarian cancer survivor will be present to share her story.

This year in Canada, 2600 women (about 1 in 70 women) will be diagnosed with ovarian cancer. Ovarian Cancer is the fifth most common cancer in women, and is often called "the disease that whispers" due to the vagueness of the signs and symptoms which accompany it. With no early detection test, most women are diagnosed in the later stages of the disease and 60% will not survive past 5 years. For this reason, ovarian cancer is one of the most deadly cancers to strike women. While the statistics surrounding this disease are bleak, when it is diagnosed in the earliest stages, the long-term survival rate is at least 90%. Education and awareness are the best tools for increasing the survival at this time.

The "Listen to the Whispers" workshop has been seen by over 40,000 people since its launch in September 2000. It is funded by the Women's Health Council Secretariat of Ontario and the McCain Foundation. The National Ovarian Cancer Association is dedicated to overcoming ovarian cancer, providing leadership by supporting women living with the disease and their families; raising awareness in the general public and with health care professionals; and funding research to develop reliable early detection techniques, improved treatments and ultimately, a cure.

This free education session will be held on Tuesday, April 23rd from 12:00 to 1:00 p.m. at the Milton District Hospital. Light refreshments will be available. Call 905-815-5110 or e-mail lrohman@haltonhealthcare.on.ca to reserve a seat.

If you are unable to attend this event, but would like more information on this topic, contact the National Ovarian Cancer Association at 877-413-2720 or visit their website at www.ovariancanada.org.
