McNeil given award for local heritage work

Leonard McNeil has a passion for local history.

That was made clear May 16 when the Miltonian was presented the Ontario Historical Society's Janet Carnochan Award at Hugh Foster Hall.

The award is presented annually to an individual who has contributed many years of service to the heritage community.

A teacher and historian, Ms Carnochan was the founder of the Niagara Historical Society in 1895 and was the driving force behind the establishment of the Niagara Historical Society Museum in 1907.

Mr. McNeil has been active in preserving Milton's history and was responsible for writing the Constitution for the Milton Historical Society. He also helped establish the town's Local Architectural Conservation Advisory Committee.

Also, he helped put up historical plaques at the P.L. Robertson Company plant on Bronte Street.

Mr. McNeil grew up in the Lindsay/Peterborough area before moving to Milton with his wife Helen in 1958. He had been a member of the Ontario Historical Society for several years and was also president of the Durham Country Club in Toronto. During his term, the club erected a plaque at Courtice in Durham County, commemorating the arrival of the parents of the Hon. Robert Baldwin in Bowmanville.

Mr. McNeil was also Milton's Citizen of the Year in 1986.
