

HOME & GARDEN

Contain yourselves, gardening enthusiasts:

Take a look at gardening's hottest trend

(MS) — More and more people today are seeking to create a tranquil home environment filled with serenity and beauty. Container gardening, one of the fastest-growing trends, is an ideal way to enjoy a relaxing hobby while satisfying the need for a soothing home. The people at Miracle-Gro have developed potting mixes that help turn your container plants into work of art that are sure to appease and amaze.

Container gardening is actually very easy. Containers are versatile and portable, because they can be moved from spot to spot and can be rearranged seasonally, allowing gardeners enormous flexibility. They enhance entrances, terraces, porches, decks, walls, poolsides and stairways, as well as filling out beds and borders. They're simple, care-free and very inexpensive. Even first-time gardeners can create a beautiful container garden instantly.

Plants grown in this manner require moisture retention, aeration, proper pH level and proper nutrient levels. Miracle-Gro's vast line of potting mixes, like the Enriched Miracle-Gro Potting Mix and Miracle-Gro Moisture Control Potting Mix®, offer the necessary ingredients to help plants grow and thrive in their contained home. With a wide spectrum of potting mixes, Scotts, the makers of Miracle-Gro, ensures that whatever is in the pot will receive the specialized individualized care it needs, indoors or outdoors.

By selecting plants that are suited to the environment and starting them off in a premium potting mix, you can enjoy months of outstanding ornamental plant color and bountiful vegetable yields. There is almost no place that would not be right for or benefit from a container garden and there is no plant that cannot be potted. So let your imagination run wild and delight in the pleasure and beauty associated with a container garden.

"Container gardening has become a hotbed of the industry," states Keith Baeder, Vice President of Marketing for The Scotts Company Growing Media Division. "People love the variety, versatility and ease associated with container gardening. A novice gardener can have rows of luscious plants and exotic flowers with little effort and low maintenance. It truly is a side of gardening that maximizes every gardener's potential and beautifies every home."

Container gardening is an easy, versatile way to enjoy a relaxing hobby while satisfying the need for a soothing home.
