

Swabbing cancelled

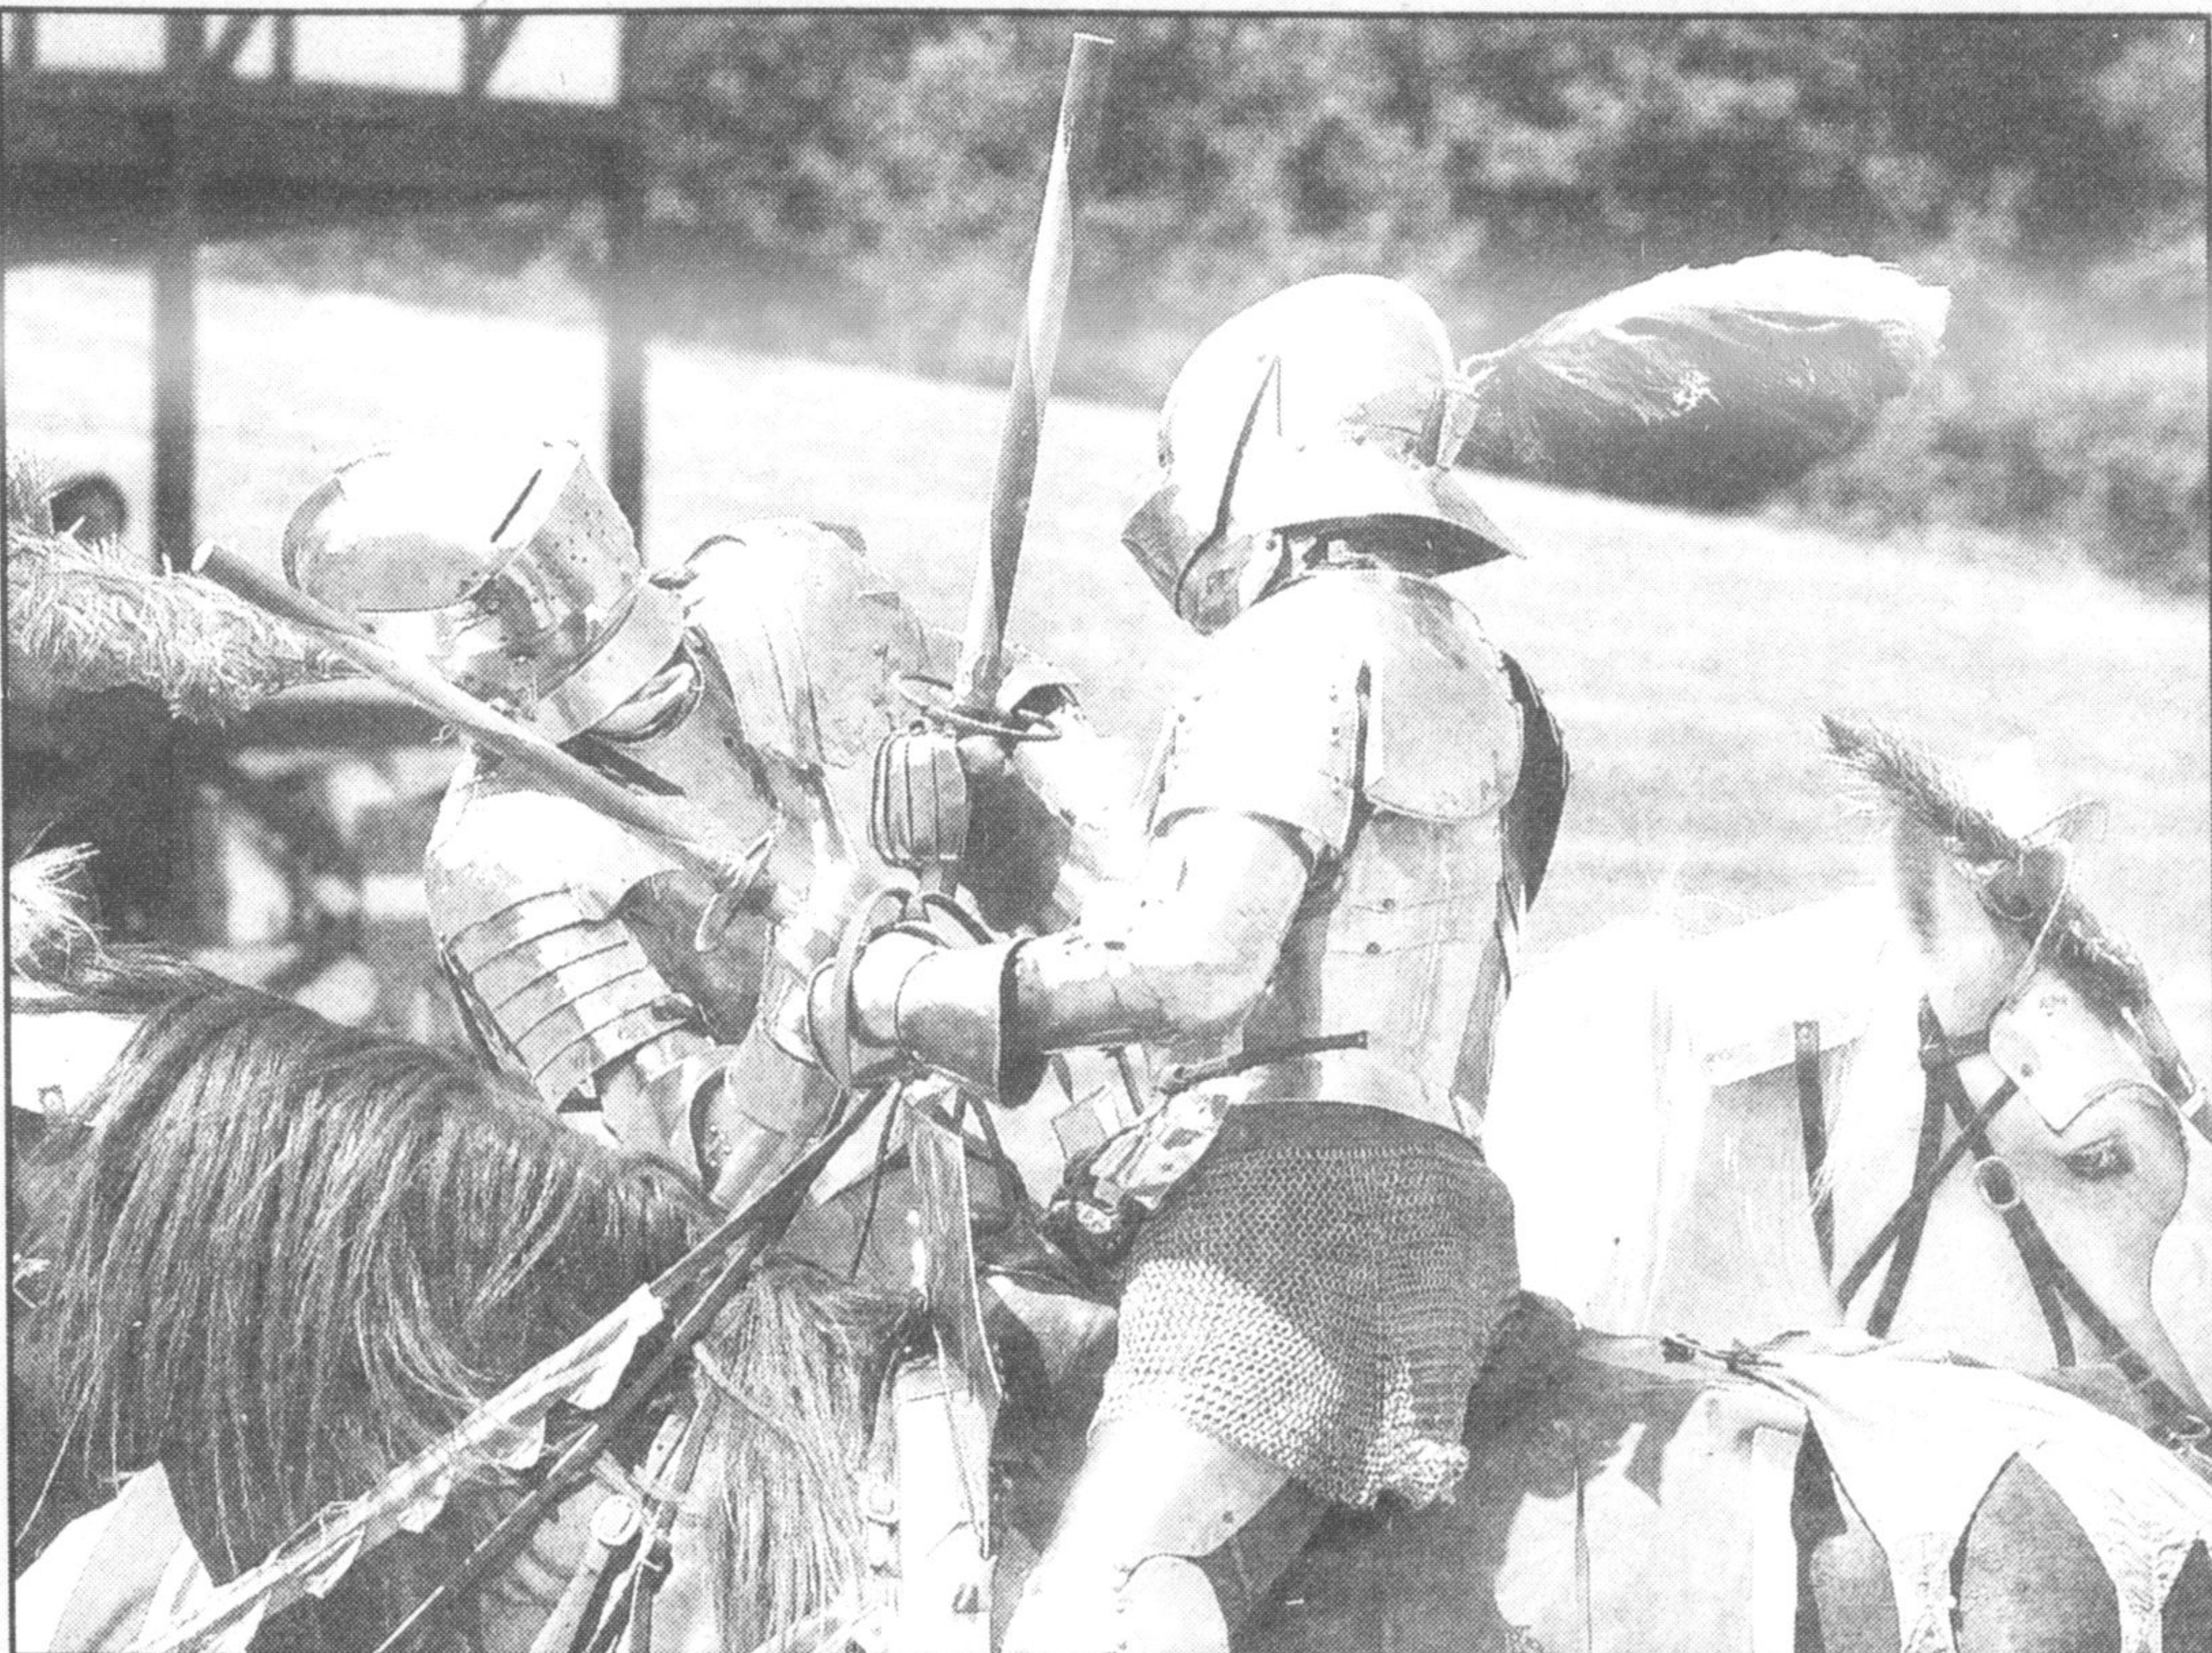

Cleansing of Milton's water mains has fallen victim to the drought.

The program of swabbing manganese from Milton's pipes has been canceled while an outdoor water use ban is in effect, according to a press release issued by Halton Region.

The water ban started last Tuesday and remained in effect at press time yesterday.

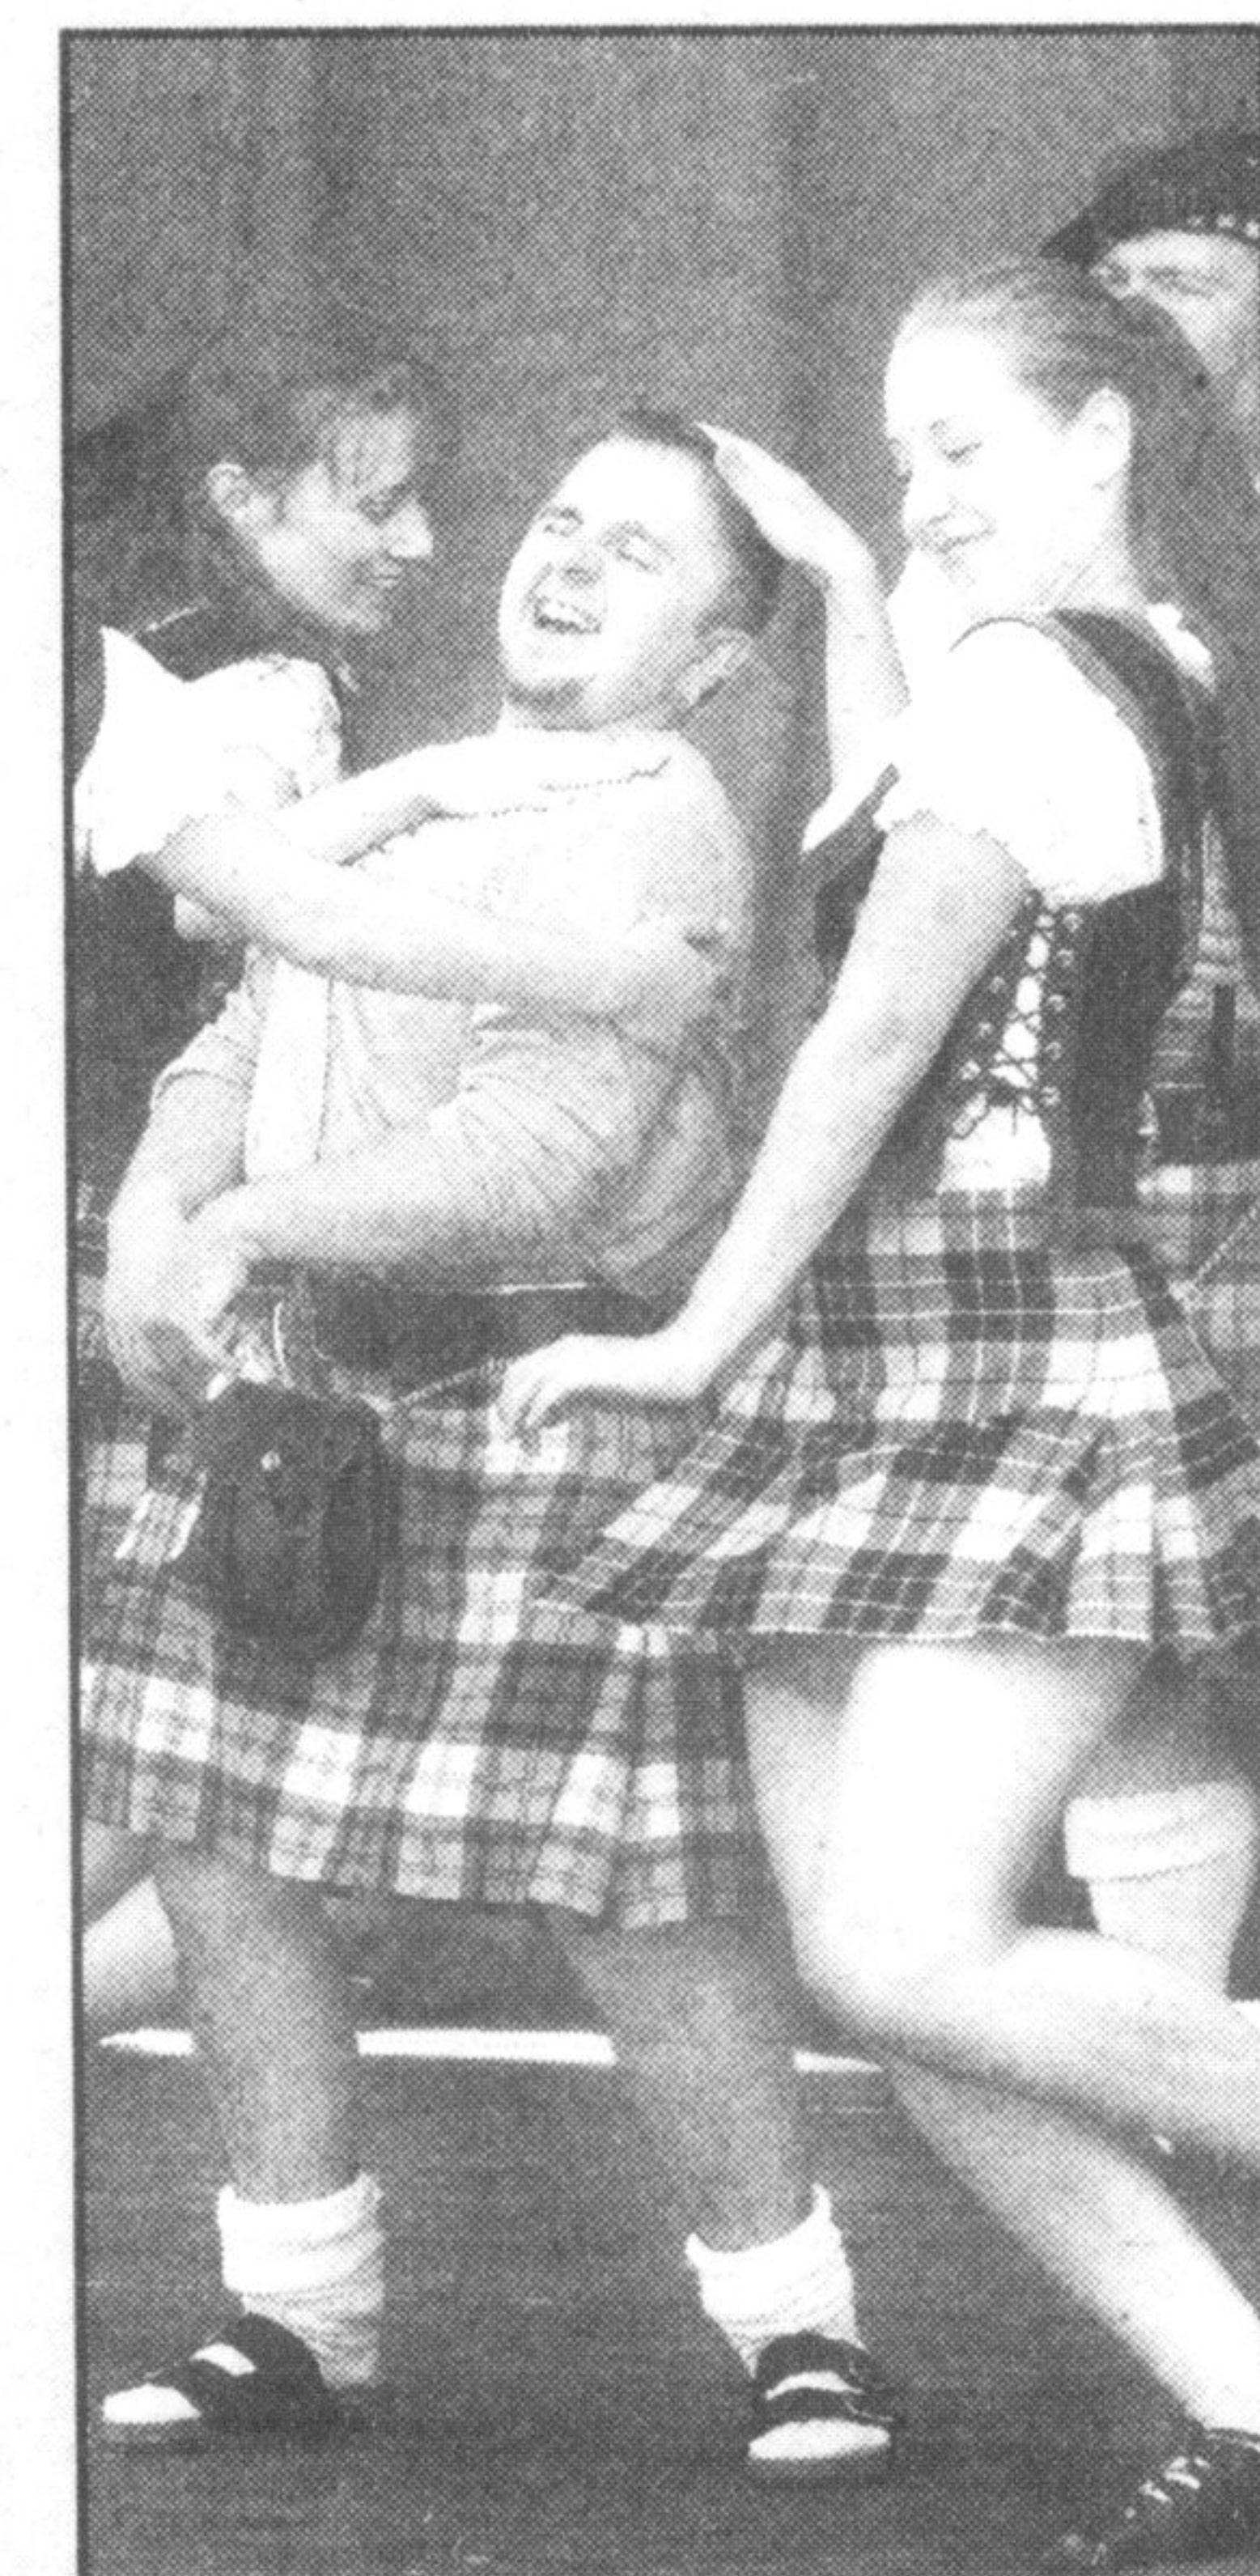

Once the ban is lifted — following a substantial rain fall — the program will begin again.

Royal fun
