Parents, get your credit cards out. It's time for back-to-school shopping.

Peasant, bohemian look is in

Since mid-summer, most clothing stores have been busy gearing up for the start of school. And now that it's just around the corner, sales have really started to pick up.

"The entire store is on sale this week and next," said John Schiestel, manager of SportChek. "This is also the kick-off to hockey season, so between that and back-to-school sales, we've been having a great week."

Footwear, clothing and backpacks have been big sellers, he continued, adding winter coats are also starting to sell quickly.

"A few years ago you wouldn't see fall and winter clothing in the stores until October. People aren't waiting until mid-winter to buy warmer clothing. They're shopping earlier."

All items in the store will be at least 10 per cent off until mid-September, Mr. Schiestel said.

"We've been preparing for this since just after Father's Day. Last week we really noticed sales had picked up, especially during the weekdays. This is our first back-to-school sale in Milton and we've really been looking forward to it."

Besides athletic wear, SportChek also has men's and ladies' casual wear sections and will bring in a denim collection in the near future, he added.

Scott Weir, manager of Zellers, said the back-to-school sales have been great this year.

"It's been really fabulous. People have been coming in on a regular basis to buy children's clothing, footwear, stationary supplies and appliances for university."

He expects sales to really pick up within the next few weeks, he added.

"Our fall and winter clothing are arriving now. I think people will still shop once their kids are already in school so they can see what else their kids would need."

Zellers is now equipped with staff on the sales floor dedicated to provide assistance for customers, Mr. Weir said.

"It's new to the company. Now the staff will be going up to customers asking if they need help. This has greatly improved the quality of service we provide."

Shelley Niklas, manager of Suzy Shier, said the store hasn't been too busy yet with back-to-school shoppers, but expects that will change during Wednesday's sidewalk sale.

Denim and corduroy are big sellers this year, she said, adding jeans with patterns and big belt buckles are also popular.

"The peasant and bohemian look is in. We just had our fall launch a week-and-a-half ago. And our buy-one, get-one-half-off sale is on until September 7."
