Rev. Lewis to preach at Knox

Rev. J. Mark Lewis, moderator of the Presbyterian Church of Canada, will preach at Knox Presbyterian Church October 20 at 10:30 a.m.

Rev. Lewis, who ministers at MacNab Presbyterian Church in Hamilton, has recently returned from trips to the Middle East and Africa, where he visited Beirut, Lebanon, Amman, Jordan and other locations in Palestine and Israel.

He also had the opportunity to visit with Palestinian leader Yasser Arafat, where the two discussed the hope of future peace between Palestine and Israel.

While in Africa, Rev. Lewis visited Malawi, where the Presbyterian Church assists in medical, educational and agricultural programs.

Rev. Lewis, whose father Trevor ministered at Knox Presbyterian Church from 1975 to 1985, is a former clerk and moderator of the Presbytery of Niagara. He's served as convener of the Church's national long-range planning committee and as vice-convener and convener of the General Assembly Council of the Presbyterian Church of Canada.

In 1997, he was elected as Citizen of the Year in Dunnville for his service to many community organizations.
