

Milton Success Stories

✓CYR combines Expertise and State of the Art Technology

Dedication and long hours have gone into making Cyr Electrolysis & Laser Centre one of the busiest and most successful Electrolysis Clinics in Ontario. From our office, patients can expect to receive professionalism, confidentiality and a high standard of quality.

Over the past six years, permanent hair removal has taken on a whole new dimension with the introduction of lasers into the Electrology profession. Needle electrolysis will always be the main source of permanent hair removal, but the use of laser is an increasingly popular alternative for the larger areas of the body. Most women now have laser treatments on their legs, underarms and bikini lines. Laser treatment works best with dark hair and light skin.

Over two years ago, the Coolglide laser system for hair removal was incorporated at Cyr Electrolysis & Laser Clinic and the results have been amazing. In the past, patients would spend months to years doing electrolysis on their legs, underarms, etc, but today the same results can be achieved with four to six laser treatments.

There are many lasers on the market for hair removal, but there are only a couple that are FDA approved for treating all skin types. The Coolglide laser can safely and effectively treat all skin types without damage to the epidermis.

The Coolglide Laser is a high-powered long pulse laser (1064 nm) that has low melanin absorption by the epidermis, which reduces heat and damage to the skin. This revolutionary hair removal system can disable hundreds of hair follicles in seconds, and promises permanent hair reduction. The Coolglide system generates intense, long-pulsed light through an actively cooled hand piece, which cools and soothes as it glides across your skin. The Coolglide laser can remove hair from all parts of the body including the face, legs, arms, under-arms and back, as well as sensitive area like the chest, breast and bikini line.

How to choose a competent Electrologist.

- Take as much care as you would in selecting a doctor, dentist or any other personal service provider.

- The electrologist should uphold the COPE National infection control standards.
- The office should be private and sanitary.
- A personal consultation, by appointment, is important. Take advantage of this time to make an informed decision.
- Also ensure that Canadian Health Guidelines for infection control and aseptic technique, endorsed by COPE National, are conscientiously practiced e.g.:
 - Single use, sterile disposable needles only.
 - Biologically monitored sterilization of instruments
 - Universal precautions.
