BISHOP REDING HIGH SCHOOL

Dear Doctor Luv,

I've tried everything to get her attention. What am I doing wrong? I think about her all the time. When Student Government played those cheesy love songs Monday morning I just couldn't get her cute little face out of my mind! I sent her three heart-o-grams but I don't think she ever got them.

Hoping MATCHMAKER could cheer me up, I bought mine at lunch. Frantically reading over the sheets for my loves name. I was once again disappointed.

Thinking my luck would soon change I bought a ticket to guess how many jellybeans were in the jar (I'm quite gifted with numbers you know). It turns out that I was more than 675 jelly beans off, who knew you couldn't guess negative numbers anyway?

With a heavy heart I dragged my feet into the gym after school to catch a Junior Boys Basketball game. It was great! The team was all dressed up in Valentine's Day colors, red and white. I don't know what EC Drury was thinking though, they were all dressed in green like it was St. Patrick's Day or something. Anyway the red team bet the green team 71-22, but even that didn't cheer me up.

I knew I still had to go home and deal with the little lady of the house. She's so cute, cuddly and wonderful, I just don't understand why Scruffy (my kitten) races up a tree whenever I'm around. Please Doc ya gotta help me win her love. I've tried balls of yarn to catnip, what can I do?

Sincerely,

Anonymous

MILTON DISTRICT HIGH SCHOOL “MUSTANG MESSENGER”

All's fair in love an war. NOT! War is not fair, and it can destroy as much as love can create. Today is Valentine's day, and despite the implications towards love most thoughts are turned towards war, or peace. There ar posters scattered around the school, urging students to join the march for peace at Yonge in Toronto tomorrow. There are still some things that remind us about the reason for today. Many of them may be cheesy, but MatchMaker and candy grams do get the point across.

Coming up next week at school... we have option sheets, which were due on Thursday for the grade 12s and OACs, and today for the other grades. Also, an attention to parents. If you haven't received your child's report card it could be because they have outstanding materials. Please, get these items returned to receive the report. Also, The North Halton Literacy Association will be running a fundraiser here at MDHS on February 28th. On a more artistic note... the MDHS band traveled to WI Dick middle school to perform. On February 26th they will travel to Markham to compete.

Ha Ha Ha! Are you into comedy and laughs? Then the Second City Comedy Group will definitely interest you. They will be performing soon, so watch for more advertisements and information in the Champion.

Gentlemen of Milton HS, don't forget to start dusting off last year's suit. Semi-Formal. "Black Tie Affair," will be held on Thursday, March 6th, the day before March Break. Tickets will go on sale within the next couple of weeks.

Tickets will also be going on sale for the giant pep rally happening on Monday in honour of the senior boy's basketball team, and their advancement into the semi-finals. They ended the regular season with 10 wins and no losses, for the first time in Mustang History. They beat Oakville Trafalgar las week 56-44, and finished off Loyola on Monday with a score of 61-55. The pep rally will be an opportunity for students to watch our fantastic cheerleading team, and cheer on our boy's as they start their game at 3:30 p.m. They deserve our support, after all the work that they've done to get this far. Go 'Stangs!

The swim team also triumphed last Friday at M.M. Robinson in their second last meet before O.F.F.S.A. Jen Porenta won both her events (obviously!), the hundred fly and the hundred free. Michelle Claessons beat out the competition in the hundred breaststroke, and Stephanie Fennell won the hundred backstroke, along with being 2nd in the two hundred individual medley. All in all, the team did awesome, and are well prepared for their next dive into the world of competitive swimming.

Everything at school is running along smoothly, so enjoy your significant other, or best buds today, and have a relaxing weekend. Check out Toronto tomorrow if you are interested in the peace march. It is Valentine's Day, so remember, "Make love, not war."

Cupid's gettin' busy today; taking aim and striking hearts everywhere we look. That's right, your favourite day of the year has arrived again: Valentine's Day, and everyone is lovin' and livin' it up. We know you've been cramming yourselves full of Valentine chocolates all week long in preparation for the big day, but we hope that you saved some room for Beaver's Baked Goods which will be sold in the locker bay today, ending their third day of sales. Sales will be taking place during 3rd and 4th period, so make sure that you didn't receive any candy from a secret admirer through Kaptain Kandy's love note service. But don't worry, there are still sweets after Valentine's Day, as Honest Ernie's will continue to be open periods 2, 3, and 4, with their fifty-cent specials continuing to entice and plump up Drury students.

Good luck and lots of love to our swimmers, who will be taking a short trip to Guelph next Tuesday to compete in GHAC. This will be a qualifier for OFSAA, and among the swimmers attending are: Steph Sliemers, Daniel Iwasa-Madge, Kristen McIlroy and Rachel Robinson. Also in action, Drury wrestlers will be comfortable at home as they host GHAS, for the 1st ever OFSAA 4-peat.

If you haven't already found a date for semi-formal, hopefully Aphrodite was looking over your shoulder during the fashion show, putting a twinkle in the eye of that special someone. The fashion show is aimed at helping students determine fashion do's and don'ts regarding this upcoming event. Thanks to all who participated. This year's fashion show couldn't have been successful without you. For those of you who have yet to decide whether you're going to attend this year's semi-formal, the decision will be made for you this Monday, because it's the last day that tickets will be sold. All grades are welcome, it's gonna be a blast, so make sure that you don't forget your camera. But if you do, there are sure to be plenty of pictures in this year's yearbook for $30, or $35 if you want it personalized. (See Mr. Fiorillo or Crystal Shortt if interested) But we're sure that you'll be making your own special memories this weekend with your loved one. Happy Valentine's Day to all you love-sick puppies! We'll see you next week ...
