

Bar's smoking bylaw court challenge on hold for now

The trial between the Town of Milton and Hardball Cafe owner Carlo Giangrande — who is challenging the Town's smoking bylaw — has been delayed.

It was determined in court last week that the new trial date would be May 12.

"We've agreed to hold it over with the uncertainty of what exactly is in place for the bylaw of the Town of Milton," said Troy McHarg, Town clerk.

On May 31, a bylaw was passed making public places in Milton smoke free, with the exceptions of Mohawk Slots and Bingo Country — which has until January 2004 to install a designated smoking room.

Mr. Giangrande initiated a challenge of the bylaw June 7, saying it was unfair for any venue to be exempt from the bylaw.

But changes may be coming to the bylaw anyway, as the Town debates whether designated smoking rooms should be allowed in bars and restaurants.

Also being investigated is the possibility of a region-wide smoking bylaw.

The Hardball Cafe has received three offence notices for allegedly ignoring the no-smoking bylaw. They're still outstanding as Mr. Giangrande challenges the bylaw in court.
