

MADD holds children's poster, writing contests

Kids and youths can speak out against drinking and driving

When it comes to drinking and driving, there are no criteria for victims. Children are just as at risk as anybody else.

It makes sense, then, for children to have their say and be allowed to speak out against drinking and driving.

Mothers Against Drunk Driving (MADD) is currently holding two contests — a poster contest and a writing contest — that will allow children and youth to do just that. The 2003 Matthew Paul Carvalho Poster contest is named after a young man who was killed in 1990 by an impaired driver.

The theme for both contests is 'My life has just begun! Don't drink and drive!' There are two age categories, one for kids aged 10 years old and under, and one for youths aged 11 to 14.

Deadline for submissions is July 31. Cash prizes will go to the first, second and third-place winners.

For an official contest entry form and guidelines, write to or visit the Halton MADD chapter at 466 Speers Rd., suite 5B, Oakville, Ont., L6K 3W9.

Some plan loopholes allow tree-clearing: councillors about Halton's legal position, Mr. Meneray said.

In mid-April it was discovered that the woodlot bordering Sixteen Mile Creek had about 40 acres of trees removed by excavators, destroying valuable bird habitat in the process.

The property is registered to a numbered company, which lists George and Helen Vastis of Burlington as directors. The couple has so far refused comment on the issue.

The area has been regionally designated as an Environmentally Sensitive Area

(ESA) and an Area of Natural and Scientific Interest (ANSI).

But it's zoned agricultural. That means a landowner whose property is zoned agricultural can legally alter their property if it's for the purposes of farming.

The key to any charges lies in determining the intent of the tree cutting, Mr. Meneray said.

Some regional councillors say loopholes in the Region's Official Plan may allow for owners to clear trees.
