

Local Junior Achievement of Halton members 'outstanding'

Milton's Junior Achievement (JA) of Halton members flexed their entrepreneurial skills this past school year — and their efforts didn't go unnoticed.

One local group in particular stood out among its Halton-wide competition, and has a hefty hardware haul to prove it. B.O.P.P.

Co. cleaned up at the recent Future Unlimited Banquet, honouring JA's top performers from across the region. The year-end banquet was held at the Burlington Holiday Inn. Not only did the locally-based business — which split its time selling 3-D Christmas mugs stuffed with holiday treats and first aid kits — pick up the outstanding company of the year award, but two individual accolades as well. Stephanie Williams was the outstanding vice-president of marketing, while Chris Carmichael won the Canadian National Junior Achievement Company essay contest. Mr. Carmichael will represent Halton at JA's national conference in August in Halifax.
