

Father Curtis to sing anthem at Leafs game

Throughout the history of Maple Leaf hockey, the honour of beginning each home game with Canada's and America's national anthems has been reserved for great voices of Canadian music.

Now a local crooner joins that fraternity. Milton's Father Mark Curtis has been chosen to sing the national anthems when the Leafs host the Atlanta Thrashers Monday night at the Air Canada Centre.

Other musicians bestowed with the honour include such Canadian idols as Celine Dione, Gordon Lightfoot, Anne Murray, Rita McNeil, Michael Burgess and John McDermott — to name a few.
