E.C. DRURY HIGH SCHOOL

It's a bright and beautiful Wednesday morning, and Alicia and John enter the lockerbay.

"Hey Alicia, what's up?"

"Oh nothing really, are you ready to write this week's article?"

"Sure am! However, I only know of a few things that happened."

"Same here, there's the Jazz night, the Drama Festival..."

Suddenly, Alicia is interrupted by a smiling young woman, who comes running towards them with urgent news to share!

"Hey guys! I couldn't help overhearing your conversation and I thought I could help you two out."

"Whatever do you mean. And who are you?"

"I'm Erika Strome," she said with a perk. "I know of some important events that are happening around the school, and I thought I could help you write this week's article."

"Sure! We need all the help we can get! So far, we've had Tim the Flea, and Scurvy the fish help us out, let's see what you've got!"

So off the three went to the library to compose their article, and here is what transpired:

It was a starry night at EC Drury's semi formal this past February 13. The gym was carefully decorated by our student government, who were hard at work all day long. Lights were hung, the floor was cleared, and the DJ played a variety of music. The evening was catered by E.C. Drury's Food School, with Dean Lane, leading the way. They provided us with chicken Parmesan, caesar salad, pasta and an array of desserts. Overall, the evening was a huge success and everyone involved deserves a huge thanks.

After eating all this delicious food, the girls hockey team knew they'd need to burn off all those calories. And what better way to accomplish this, than participating in the playoffs. The girls will face one team from the Peel District School Board, and one team from the Toronto District School Board. Once they win against these teams (as we are confident they will!) They will be eligible to compete in the all-Ontario OFSAA competition. Gooooooooooooooooooooo TEAM!

The drama department also seems to think that competition is a great way to work off those extra calories. They are currently working very hard to perfect their production, "Bonjour, La Bonjour" which they performed Friday, February 20. This play is a Canadian Classic. Written by Michelle Tremblay, this story about a dysfunctional family, shows how difficult it is to find true love in our modern day world. Tremblay's view is bleak, but heart-warming. The drama students at Drury have worked very hard to present a play which deals with the impact of relationships on people. Results of how they did were not available at present time.

However we're sure they broke a leg.

After writing their article, Alicia, John, and Erika were talking in the lockerbay.

"Wow Erika! You've got skills! You sure know a lot about what's happening in the school," exclaimed John.

"Yeah! How about continuing to write with us for the rest of the year?" Asked Alicia.

"Sure, that's what I've always wanted!" Proclaimed Erika.

And so the three companions continued writing their articles, which you will certainly read more of in the future. Now, onto the trivia:

Last Week's Question: In what year was Drury's school song written?

Answer: 1987

This Week's Question: In 1997, who were E.C. Drury's prom King and Queen?

BISHOP REDING HIGH SCHOOL

This week at Bishop Reding has proven to be, yet again, one filled with many exciting and thrilling events. Sports were especially electrifying this week, as the senior boys basketball team made it to the playoffs in a series of exciting and edge-of-your-seat games. The first round was held on Monday as B.R. faced off in a grueling game. The boys played tough and the defensive effort was especially strong. The coaches would like to especially congratulate Ryan Furik and Lance Codner on their amazing efforts and contributions to the game. The boys won this game in overtime with a score of 59 to 56. On Thursday the boys then travelled to Nelson, along with a bus load of Bishop Reding students who were geared up to cheer on the team. They came out with a strong game against their competitors. Special mention goes out to Matt Masterangelo and Marcos Gray for their plays. Unfortunately the boys lost their game, but AA OFSAA is definitely still in sight. We would like to congratulate the boys on their amazing efforts and abilities.

In other sports news, the girls volleyball season has come to a close, with the coaches commending all of the ladies on their efforts throughout the season. Indoor soccer at Bishop Reding has geared up, with Mr. Costa coaching them. The girls have been busy practicing and scrimmaging in the mornings. As well, badminton will be starting just before the March break, so make sure to listen for further details.

Moreover, Bishop Reding's first "Royal Roar" came on sale this week. The paper is filled with many pictures, articles, horoscopes and more! It is on sale in the piazza for only fifty cents, so make sure to get your copy soon.

The Canadian Federation of University for Women will be holding its 31st annual used book sale at the Milton Mall on the weekend of March 26th and 27th. They are in need of volunteers to help sort books, set up, and pack any unsold books. Any interested students are asked to please go to Student Services as soon as possible to pick up a form with a phone number to call. This is not only an excellent way to complete the necessary forty hours of community service, but also to meet many new friends.

The week at Bishop Reding ended off with a great success as Student Government held their first dance in two years. The dance was a great success as many students and guests came out to this amazing event. The two DJ's were B.R.'s own Nick Parry and Ryan Furik. Thank you to all who made this evening of dancing a success; especially our Student Government.

All in all, it was an exciting week at Bishop Reding from start to finish. We hope everyone is enjoying their new semesters and we would like to remind that there are only three weeks left until March break.

"MUSTANG MESSENGER"

In between essay due dates and catching up on missed reading, the athletes of MD are pitted in a life or death struggle in their respective playoff runs. Contrary to essay writing, a team cannot artistically make up the end result, but must work hard to earn their spot in the standings.

Out of three Boys basketball teams, the Juniors have the best shot at going farthest, being wedged in the middle of their loop not far from the top. The Midget and Sr teams have slowly hit rock bottom - the Sr's only propping themselves up over the cross-town rivals EC Drury.

Victory seems to favour the Girls volleyball teams over any other sport at the moment. The Sr Girls team has kept their excellent third-place position, tied with Lord Elgin. The Jr team has found itself a comfortable top-half spot on the scoreboard, not far from the division leader.

MD's hockey hopes have been smothered after both teams failed to get over the .500 mark this season. The Girls team, however, is looking to excel in their upcoming tournament this Wednesday and Thursday in Oakville.

Sports are all very challenging and exciting, but nothing says entertainment like a good murder mystery full of spine-tingling suspense. Rehearsals for this semester's production of Agatha Christie's Mousetrap started last week, with a production date set in early May.

The Music Department travelled out of town last Wednesday, representing MD in a very musical manner at Music Fest. The MD performers went out with a flourish and gave a delightful performance enjoyed by all.

Hollywood is set to invade MD on March 5 during the annual Semi-Formal. Tickets for this celebrity event went on sale yesterday, and can be purchased up until the event. Pick out your dresses now and be sure to catch up on the latest celebrity gossip.

That's it for this week. Don't forget to support your favourite MD team during their playoff run!
