Do you know a local hero?

Know any real-life heroes?

The Halton Region Safety Council (HRSC) has announced it's searching for the next recipient of its Halton Heroes Award.

The award is given to Halton residents who selflessly and courageously save or try to save the life of another person.

Halton residents may nominate people who have shown a special commitment to the safety and well-being of others through their actions in the past 18 months.

Nominations can be faxed to (905) 825-9429 or mailed to Carla Draper or Wendy Moraghan, Halton Police Education Services, 1151 Bronte Rd., Box 2700, Oakville, Ont., L6J 5C7.

The deadline for nominations is March 8.

The Halton Region Safety Council — made up of a police officer, volunteers from water safety and block parents — as well as Regional representatives will carefully consider nominations.

For more than 35 years, the HRSC has tried to make Halton safer by drawing attention to the importance of public safety. It educates children through school visits that focus on water safety, block parents and safety in the home.
