

Father, daughter to travel through town raising money

Milton will be host to a couple of special visitors Monday afternoon who will be in town to raise money for McMaster Children's Hospital in Hamilton.

Sometime between 3 and 5 p.m., Jim Jutte and his 11-year-old daughter, Natasha, will walk and bicycle through Milton. Along the way, they'll be selling buttons for Scotiabank's Smiles for Mac Kids campaign. All money raised will go toward the hospital. The buttons can also be purchased at Scotiabank locations.

They'll start at the Tim Hortons store on Ontario Street, and continue toward Steeles Avenue East where they'll turn left and then right at Regional Road 25.

The Milton stretch of the Juttés' journey is just a small portion of the ground they'll cover throughout their five-day journey.

They'll begin bicycling from McMaster Hospital and will continue through Dundas, Waterdown, Burlington, Oakville and Milton. Then Mr. Jutte will continue by himself through Guelph, Kitchener, Brantford, Simcoe, Port Colborne, Niagara Falls and back to Hamilton.

His daughter will join him once again on the last day of the journey.

Mr. Jutte said he expects to cover more than 500 km during his five-day journey.

He feels passionate about his support for the hospital because of work done there to save the lives of two of his children. For more information, visit www.mackids.ca.
