

Showing some backbone

Chiropractors Heather Eveleigh and Shaun Demeris show a model of a spine in one of their treatment rooms during a recent open house of the Chiropractic Health Centre located at Carriage Square on Main Street. Also working out of the centre is registered massage therapist Jenna Goddard.

"About 80 per cent of my new customers are sent to me by my old customers," said Mr. Squires. "My advertising is mostly done through word-of-mouth."

In addition to the garden centre, Mr. Squires enjoys teaching his annual perennial course that's currently held at West Plains United Church in Burlington.

The nine-week course begins at the start of January to the beginning of March and covers at least 800 different species of perennials.

"People from all levels of gardening from amateurs to master gardeners take this course and I have had great comments about it," said Mr. Squires.

"The sign-up forms will be in the garden centre soon for this winter's course (January 5 to March 2, 2005)."

Correction

Due to incorrect information provided to The Champion, an error appeared in the June 8 Milton Means Business section.

The new Canadian Tire location in Milton will open this fall, not fall 2005.

The Champion regrets any confusion the error may have caused.
