

Kerwin gets hospital's award of excellence

Milton District Hospital has chosen Judy Kerwin as the recipient of its 2004 Award of Excellence.

The award was presented at the recent sixth annual general meeting of Halton Healthcare Services.

Ms Kerwin joined the staff at Milton District Hospital (MDH) in 1979 and has worked as a registered practical nurse in most areas of the hospital.

Since 1989, she has held a full-time position at the Medical and Surgical Inpatient Unit.

"Judy's teaching and mentoring skills are legendary throughout the hospital," said Elaine Burns, patient care manager of the Medical/Surgical Unit at MDH. "Co-workers and students alike always benefit from her commitment, leadership, patience and clinical skills."

Ms Kerwin is also known for her passionate devotion to patient care. She recently received a peer-nominated Team Award for organizing and decorating a palliative patient room for an anniversary celebration.

"Judy never hesitates to donate her valuable time and hence, has participated in various committees and spent countless hours volunteering for hospital events such as the Wellness Fair and Strawberry Fair," said Cindy McDonnell, chief operating officer at MDH. "She can always be counted on to lend a hand."

The MDH Award of Excellence was established during the 40th anniversary celebration of the hospital.

The award recognizes a staff member who displays a commitment to MDH patients and families, demonstrates professional standards and practice and is highly respected for his or her strong support of MDH, both within the hospital and in the community.

Halton Helping Hands has new executive director

Ann Burlison has been named executive director of Halton Helping Hands, a community agency providing home help and home maintenance services to seniors and the physically challenged across the region.

A graduate of McMaster University's Social Work Program and of the Schulich School of Business at York University, Ms Burlison joins Halton Helping Hands from West Toronto Support Services — a sister agency where she held a similar post.

Her list of credentials also includes provincial-level tenures with both the Canadian Red Cross and the Ontario March of Dimes, as well as involvement with the founding of Halton Helping Hands.

"Our new executive director is well respected in the community support sector and brings a wealth of experience to the agency," said Halton Helping Hands president Chris Brown.
