Magic girls shine at tourney

Now that's more like it.

Putting an end to their season-long winless streak at last weekend's Kitchener Tournament, Milton's Under-17 girls rep soccer squad came within a heartbeat of winning the whole shebang — scoring three victories to reach the finals, and once there losing by the narrowest of margins.

That 2-1 championship defeat came against Sault Ste. Marie Monday.

Eager to crush the Soo's psychological edge, secured after a 4-0 round-three decision, the Magic came out strong and grabbed the lead just before half-time on a goal by speedy Nicole Shelly.

Unfortunately, Milton couldn't capitalize on this second chance and had to settle for second best — surrendering the upper hand midway through the second half and then falling behind with just two minutes remaining.

Heather Reis gave a standout performance in the title match, as did Caitlin O'Connor — who filled in nicely up front despite playing with an injured wrist.

Milton kicked off the tournament with back-to-back wins and then secured a berth to the finals with a 1-0 nail-biter over London-based Forest Sunday.

Sara Mancini scored in the dying minutes of play — with Shannon

Johnston setting her up — while the Magic's efforts were fortified by the return of Tanya Maduri and Cassandra Berghammer.

Jenna Dowhaniuk, Kim Carre, Julie Iantorno and Teia Clement offered spirited efforts as well.

Milton's other victims were Stratford and LaSalle — who were beaten 1-0 and 2-1 respectively while the local ladies persevered through a short bench Saturday.

Mancini, Johnston and Fiona Sinanan did the scoring in these victories, while suffocating opposing forwards in the first win were Maduri and Allison Cleal.

Earning the shutout was Cassandra Berghammer.

Bantam Mavs suffer early exit

It wasn't exactly the season finale the bantam Mavericks had in mind.

Enjoying its fair share of momentum after clinching the Zone 8 'D' series title just eight days earlier, Milton was no doubt hoping for — and perhaps even expecting — a lengthy run at last weekend's Ontario 'C' championships in Guelph.

But a short bench and an unfortunate first-round draw combined to squash those plans, and essentially cost the Mavericks an early exit from the double-knockout provincials.

Facing top seed and eventual champion Orillia last Friday morning, the local lads delivered a highly impressive weekend start before being eclipsed 7-6 in overtime. Though missing Ryan Williams and Jeremy Price, Milton kept pace the entire way and managed a short-lived lead with under eight minutes remaining on Scott Stover's second goal of the game.

However, Orillia would answer back just a few moments later and finally disposed of the Mavericks 7:06 into the extra session. Doug Kay hit the crossbar in overtime after sinking three in regulation.

John Grant's solid cage work and a disciplined effort helped keep the verdict in doubt until the bitter end.

Milton had little left in the tank after that and was doubled up 8-4 Friday afternoon by top medal contender Clarington. With far fewer players, the Mavericks fell behind early and never really looked capable of staving off elimination — except for a brief span when Brad Mazzocato and Ethan O'Connor scored 52 seconds apart to draw Milton within one.

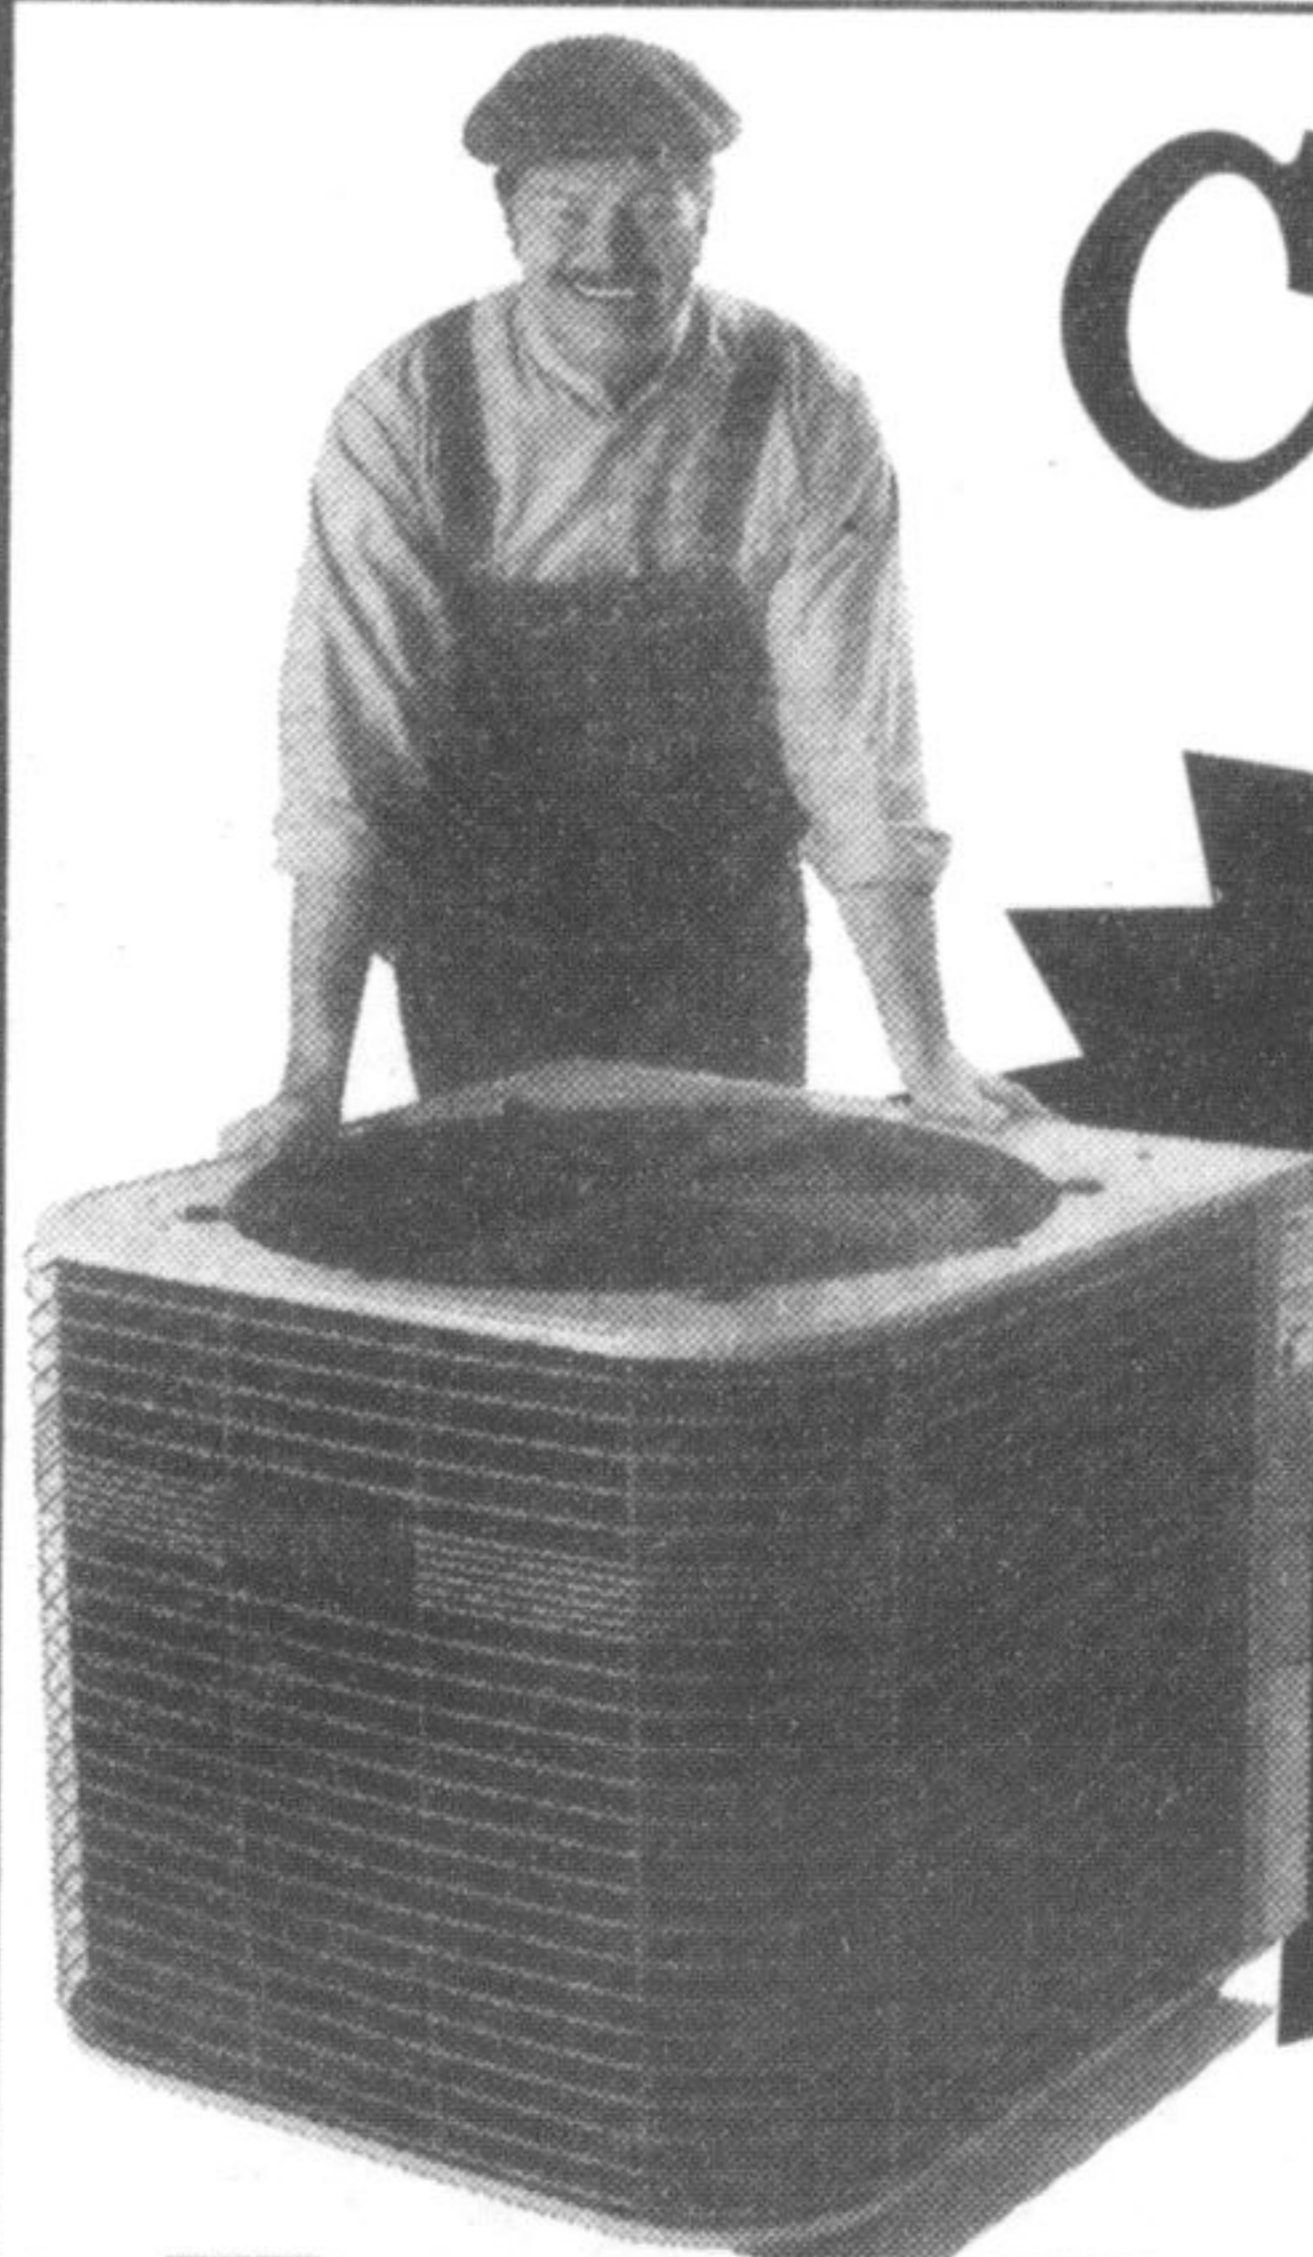

Clarington would respond with four straight goals to put things out of reach.

O'Connor finished game two with three points — including a last-minute goal — while Stover chipped in with a pair of assists. Kay put the Mavericks on the scoreboard early in the second to close out the year with a team-leading 49 goals.
