

Manslaughter suspect in death of local dentist released on bail

A man charged in connection with the death of Dr. David Dumencu, a much-loved Milton dentist, has been released from custody.

Orillia's Adam Holland, 21, was charged with manslaughter last month. He was released on bail last Friday after appearing at Ontario Court of Justice in Barrie.

A relative of Mr. Holland's who lives in the King City area posted the $15,000 bail and will act as his surety, said Sgt. Dave Lee of Orillia OPP.

The conditions Mr. Holland must abide by are to keep the peace, show good behaviour and stay in sight of the relative, he said.

"(The relative) stands to lose $15,000 if buddy breaks the conditions," Sgt. Lee said.

It's not uncommon for a person charged with manslaughter to be released on bail, he added.

"It happens," he said.

Mr. Holland was being held at the Central North Correctional Facility in Penetanguishene, Ont. before his release.

Dr. David Dumencu, 42, was found lying unconscious with head injuries in the parking lot of an Orillia-area tavern at about 2 a.m.

July 16.

He was taken to an Orillia hospital and then transferred to Toronto Western Hospital where he died July 18.

A post mortem revealed the cause of death was a blunt force head injury.

Sgt. Lee said the case is "in the hands of lawyers now."

Mr. Holland is next scheduled to appear at Ontario Court of Justice in Orillia August 30.
