Milton Farm Craft Show to feature 135 craftspeople

Why not make this the year you get your Christmas shopping done early? We all know people with their packages neatly wrapped and labeled by November. And although none of us would admit it, secretly we're jealous.

This year can be different, especially with a little bit of help from the Milton Farm Craft Show, being held Saturday and Sunday at Country Heritage Park, 8560 Tremaine Rd., from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. each day.

The 21st annual craft show will feature more than 135 juried artists and craftspeople. Objets d'arts will include pottery, clothing, jewelry, stained glass, edible treasures, iron work, wooden furniture, Christmas items, home décor, candles, leather work and more.

Those into country decorating or simply handmade quality will appreciate the large selection of items for sale, and musical entertainment will keep show-goers tapping their toes.

There will also be a large quilt display.

The beautiful location of the 88-acre park and the farm-like atmosphere will add charm to your day and visitors will be able to stroll past the park's vintage tractors and heritage buildings.

Dave Gernhart, who has been organizing the show for the past seven years, said one of the show's unique features is that it's held both indoors — in the stately Gambrel Barn — and outside.

Something else that sets it apart is dogs are permitted to accompany their owners.

He said the chosen crafters are "the best in Canada."

The show is less expensive than other large-scale craft shows, one of the reasons it attracted about 15,000 visitors last year, Mr. Gernhart said.

Tickets to the show cost $5 for adults and children under 12 are free. Parking is free.

Region to host job fair this Thursday

Local job-hunting residents will want to head to the Halton Regional Centre Thursday for the Business Development Centre's first job fair.

The event will run from 4 to 8 p.m. and will feature dozens of potential employers.

"We're expecting up to 40 employers to exhibit," said Business Development Director John Ayling. "Many employers find job fairs to be an effective and efficient recruitment tactic. We're pleased to provide Halton organizations with this opportunity to meet their labour force needs."

By taking part in the job fair, exhibitors will be able to promote employment opportunities, meet skilled and motivated people seeking employment and receive resumes on the spot. The Region will be one of the featured employers at the fair.

"This event is a great vehicle to advertise current and future employment opportunities, and to meet talented people who may be interested in joining the Halton Region team," said Director of Human Resource Services Tom Clark.

The fee for exhibitor booths is $150, which includes a skirted table and chairs, promotion of the organization's participation and refreshments. Advance registration is required. A limited number of booths are also available to community employment and entrepreneurship service providers.

Exhibitors can register on-line at www.haltonbusiness.com or by contacting the Halton Region Business Development Centre at (905) 825-6000, ext. 7740, or busdev@region.halton.on.ca.

Evening of jazz

On September 25, the Halton Region Museum will host jazz performer Kory Livingstone as part of its Hearthside Dinner and Music Series.

As a Juno nominee in 2000 for 'Best Jazz Performer', Mr. Kory is an accomplished artist with a rich voice and lyrical piano playing.

Accompanying Mr. Kory on the saxophone will be Kevin Gross. The fundraising evening will start with dinner at 7 p.m. in the historic Hearth Room and be followed with musical entertainment until 11 p.m. Tickets cost $40 per person and should be ordered in advance. A cash bar will be available.

To reserve a spot for the event, call (905) 875-2200, ext. 21. For more information, visit www.region.halton.on.ca/museum/newsevents.
