Champion buys 701 Gold Book distributed in Halton

The Milton Canadian Champion announced today its purchase of the 701 Gold Book, a comprehensive business Internet Web site and telephone directory produced by InterInforma Inc.

The Book is distributed with Metroland papers in the markets of Hamilton, Brampton, Georgetown, Oakville, Burlington and Milton, providing consumers with individualized and local listings of businesses, government services, restaurants, entertainment and cultural organizations.

"We've been very impressed since the launch of the Book. It is a first-class product that has shown great growth," said Ian Oliver, publisher of The Champion.

"The Book will provide a perfect complement to what we're providing, and something of unique value to our customers."

David Turkstra, general manager of the 701 Marketing Group, said "The credibility and resources of the Milton Champion will be a great asset to the Book. We've had business dealings with the Milton Champion and they have been great to work with. Their distribution system is excellent."

The 701 Gold Book offers a completely integrated print and on-line directory, offering consumers two quick and convenient ways to find the information they are looking for. Web site addresses are listed alongside company names where applicable in the printed version of the book. On-line, consumers can access complete local directories in Hamilton, Brampton, Georgetown, Oakville, Burlington and Milton through a local Internet portal at www.701.com.

Small house fire under investigation

Arson may be to blame for a blaze Monday afternoon at a Robert Street home.

At press time, the home continued to be the scene of a criminal investigation by Halton Regional Police, and a search warrant for the home was being sought.

"There are suspicious circumstances surrounding the fire and police are continuing to investigate as part of a criminal investigation," said Sgt. Jeff Corey Wednesday, adding the house would continue to be locked down until the search had been executed.

"We're holding the scene in the event something may not be accidental."

Sgt. Corey said he couldn't give out further details surrounding the incident.

The Milton Fire Department was called at about 4 p.m. Monday to the scene by a resident who had just returned home to find a small fire in a main-floor bedroom.

Crews extinguished the fire, which caused minimal damage estimated at about $5,000.

There were no injuries.
