Public invited to attend open house at hospice

Rose Cherry's Home for Kids will host an open house for potential young boarders and their families, as well as anyone who's donated to the new pediatric hospice/respite centre or is interested in doing so.

Tours of the No. 15 Sideroad facility for chronically ill children will take place September 24 and 25 from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. With phase one of the centre set to begin taking youngsters sometime next month, Rose Cherry's Home will serve up to six children at any one time — four in the respite unit and two more in the palliative care wing.

The facility is now complete.

Once complete, the facility is expected to provide services to 350 families each year. For more information about Rose Cherry's Home, call (416) 360-7673 or visit www.rosecherryshome.ca.

Parkland may be used to grow wheat for now

Miltonians could soon see wheat growing on a portion of the lands designated for a community park in the south end of town.

The Town's community services standing committee endorsed a proposal Monday night to transform the future park into agricultural land until 2007, when the second phase of park construction will start.

The reasoning behind this is to keep the land south of the Milton Sports Centre maintained and not overgrown with weeds in the interim.

"The farmer will ensure the site is tilled, seeded and harvested during the 2005 and 2006 seasons," a report from Director of Community Services Jennifer Reynolds said.

The report also stated that another benefit to farming the land is the Town can classify it agricultural for tax purposes, which has a cheaper rate than the current residential designation.

The farmer will have to pay about $1,500 to cover the Town's legal costs for a licence to farm the land and the taxes on the portion farmed.

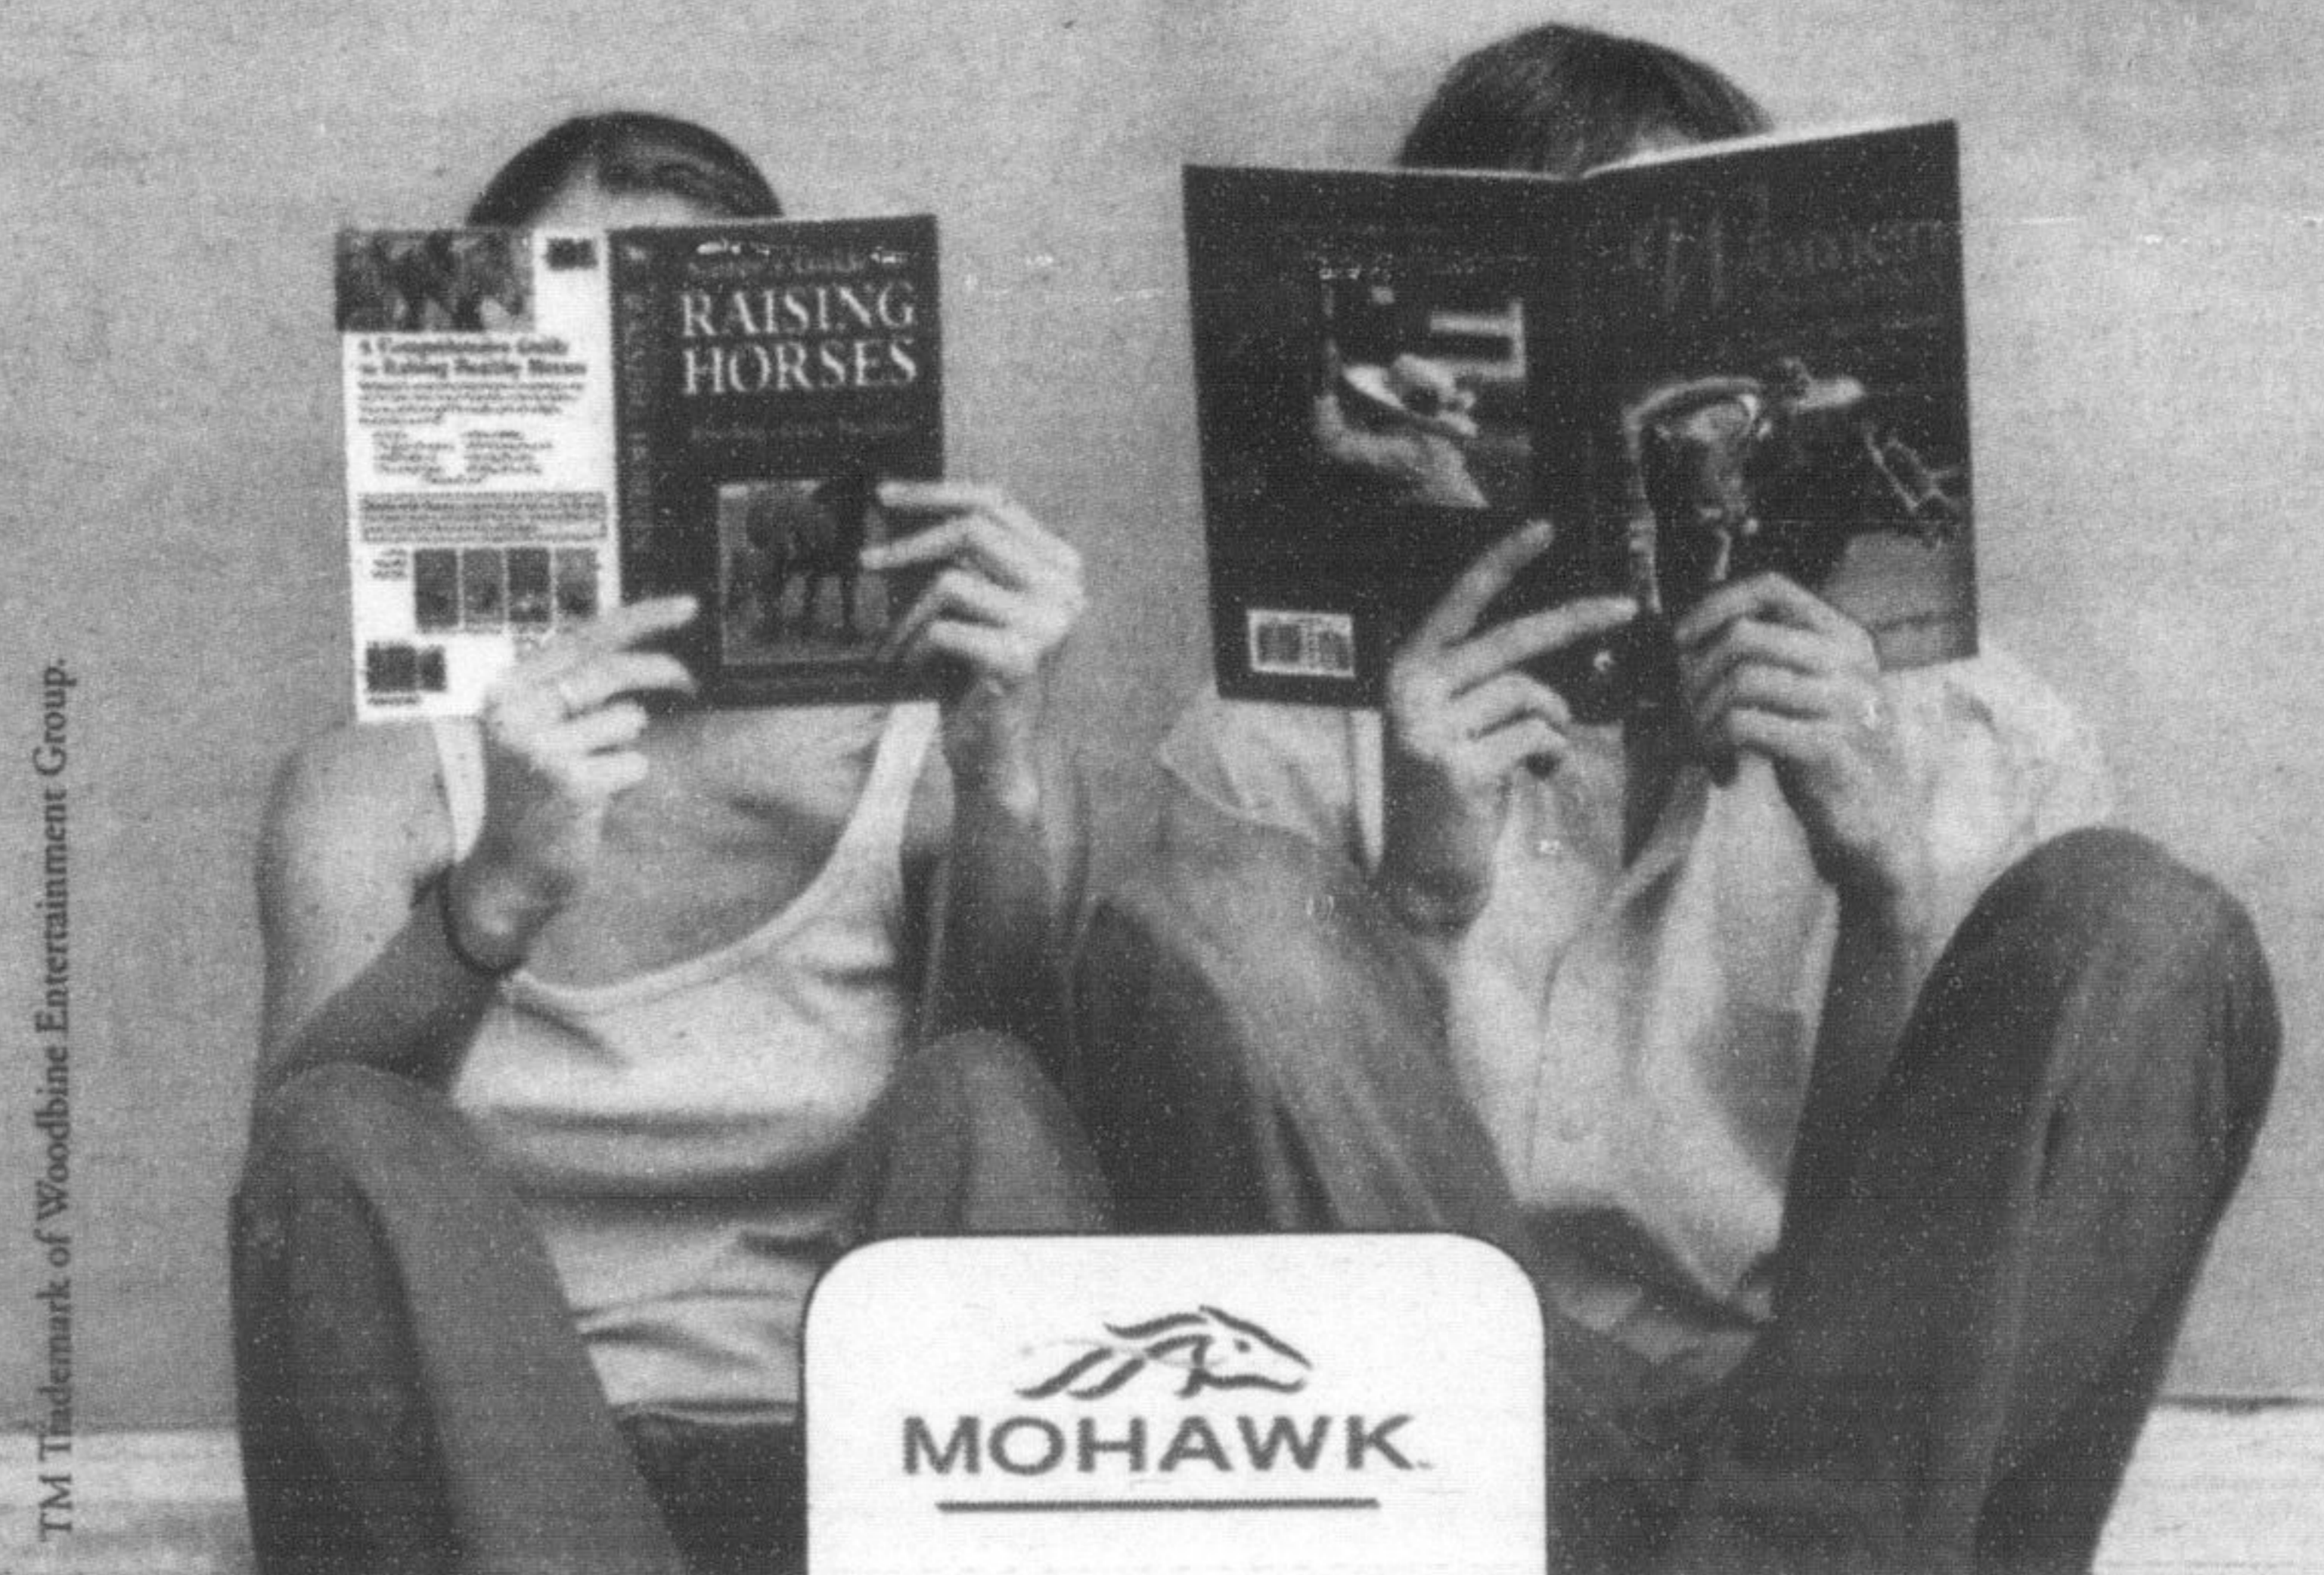

A final decision will be made at the September 27 Milton council meeting.

When the land is fully developed as a park, it will feature two baseball diamonds, four soccer fields, a playground, splash pad, multi-purpose court, walking trails and the existing Milton Tennis Club facility.

A breed apart from other book stores.
