

Residents' long-standing service earns recognition

Volunteer duo's tireless efforts honoured by town council

Two Milton residents who've devoted plenty of time and insight to the betterment of the community were awarded for their hard work Monday night.

Del Oxford and Jan Mowbray were presented with Parks and Recreation Ontario (PRO) Community Contribution Awards by Mayor Gord Krantz at a town council meeting.

Mr. Oxford received a certificate of recognition (five years) for his volunteer contributions, which include serving as a member of the community services advisory committee (CSAC) from 1999 to the present, being a co-founder of the Milton Sea Cadets and past president of the Milton Branch of the Ontario Navy League. Mr. Oxford now sits on the league's provincial board of directors.

Ms Mowbray received the same certificate for her volunteer work, which include serving as a member of CSAC from 1999 until this year, her volunteer contributions on community safety initiatives, chairing the Milton Safety Committee, serving as secretary of the Nassagaweya Community Consultation Committee and being recognized by the Halton Safety Council in 2003 for her commitment to improving life in our community.

Since the two local residents were nominated, Ms Mowbray has become a Ward 3 town councillor and Mr. Oxford is now the chair of CSAC.

Each year, PRO recognizes and honours the achievements of its members, as well as individuals in the parks and recreation community. The community awards category is open to volunteers or volunteer community groups or organizations that have contributed to the enhancement of quality of life in their communities.
