

Choristers concert set for Nov. 13

Nostalgic music commemorating Canada's involvement in both world wars will be the theme of the Milton Choristers' November 13 concert.

'Catch the Sound...of Remembrance' will be performed at Knox Presbyterian Church on Main Street at 7 p.m. in association with the Milton branch of the Royal Canadian Legion, the choir's concert patron. This concert kicks off the group's 36th concert season, under the guidance of artistic director Sonja van de Hoef.

Concert tickets are available at Delacourt's on Main Street and Lewiscraft at Milton Mall, or by calling (905) 876-3203. Tickets are selling quickly, and it's expected only a limited number will be available at the door.

The choir will be busy performing throughout the Christmas season at a variety of community events such as Milton District Hospital's tree-lighting ceremony, caroling at Road to Bethlehem, and the Hawthorne Village tree lighting.

The Choristers is also gearing up for its annual Christmas concert December 12.

Group ideal to showcase artists' work

• from FASM on page B1

"I see FASM growing by leaps and bounds," he said.

For residents who don't know much about FASM, Mr. Repchuk said: "FASM is a mechanism by which people can showcase their talent."

He went on to explain that this is accomplished through art shows and exhibitions such as their yearly studio tour. There are regular seminars and workshops, as well as smaller specialty groups that meet during the week to hone their crafts.

It's for artists of any type who want to belong to an artistic community, he said.

Although his days are full, and 'bored' isn't a word in his vocabulary, Mr. Repchuk said his community involvement — he's also an Arts Milton director and member of the Burlington Fine Arts Association, among other groups — doesn't become tiring because it's what he loves to do. "No energy is required. The more I do, the more I want to do."

Stephanie Thiessen can be reached at sthiessen@miltoncanadianchampion.com.

Free concert on Tuesday

What's better than a fall concert held right here in town? A free concert right here in town.

Tuesday, A Cappella Showcase will present its free Fall Contest Preview Show, a dress rehearsal open to the public.

The show will take place at 8:30 p.m. at E.C. Drury High School, 215 Ontario St.

The show is a rehearsal for the group's upcoming participation at the Harmony Inc. International Contest and Convention, which will be held Thursday to November 13 in Rochester, N.Y.

The chorus is currently a silver and gold medallist in its category at Harmony Inc.

experience breakfast with santa november 13 at 9 am

Your invitation to a Santa experience.

Free breakfast with Santa November 13 at 9 a.m. Join in the fun, sing songs and wake up Santa with members of the Sheridan College Music Theatre Program. First 400 kids get a free breakfast and a gift!

Saturday, November 13 at 9 a.m.

Great Holiday Gift Ideas at the following; including Jacob Jr. to open in November:

Kiddie Kobbler

please mum*

getaway
KID GEAR

ROOTS

jacob|jr

O E W & T R A F A L G A R R D . W W W . O A K V I L L E P L A C E . C O M

