Stepped-up holiday RIDE program now underway

It's almost as much a part of the holidays as cranberry sauce and Christmas trees.

Once again, the stepped-up holiday RIDE program has started and the spot checks will continue each night until the end of the month in efforts to increase awareness of the dangers of drinking and driving.

This is the 17th year Halton Regional Police is joining other policing partners in the GTA for the Holiday RIDE — or Reduce Impaired Driving Everywhere — program.

As it is each year, the message is clear: If you drink, don't drive.

The Halton police service is continuing its partnership with MADD Halton/Peel, and its members will be with police at spot checks to help pass along the message.

The officers are also partnering with the OPP and CN Police to conduct checks.
