Going a mile in his chair

To commemorate last Friday's International Day of Disabled Persons, Mayor Gord Krantz conducted his entire day's duties in a wheelchair. Here, he meets with wheelchair-bound youngster Christopher Lambert and Corrine Rawana of Easter Seals. Around the world, the day focuses on fostering changes in attitudes toward disabled persons and eliminating barriers to their full participation. Today more than 20,000 children, youth and young adults in Ontario live with a physical disability. For more than 80 years, the Easter Seal Society in Ontario has been assisting these children and youth achieve their full potential and independence through financial help for equipment and recreational activities.
