

Aquatots

Saturday morning's Aquatots at Milton Leisure Centre continues to be a popular program for toddlers (six months to three years) and their parents. The program offers a gentle orientation to the water, with an introduction to floating and bobbing through a fun-filled one hour class.

Clockwise from above, two-year-old Jackson Power takes a break from swimming with father Randy, and then gets a reassuring hug from dad, before going back to his teething ways with a pool toy. Goldie Laurignano has as much fun as her son Matthew, 20 months, in the whirlpool. Marnie Smith helps 20-month-old son Tyler during the floating portion of the class. Rose Donegan teaches daughter Abigail, 2, how to float.
