First impressions are remembered during the open house

Follow these tips to make yours a success

Spruce it up! Often the smallest defect can be a turn-off to some potential buyers. Use this handy check list to assess what needs cleaning, mending or changing before the big day:

Floor coverings (Includes carpeting, tile, linoleum, hardwood, etc.) Dirty or stained? Worn or damaged? Is there hardwood under carpeting that can be restored Walls, ceilings, baseboards Any fingerprints or stains? Any holes, nails, tape residue? Are they all neutral or complimentary colors?

Doors Do they squeak? Are the handles secure and work properly? Any stains or other damage?

Windows Are they clean and crack free? Do they open easily? Are the coverings clean and also easy to open?

Lighting Is there sufficient light? Any broken switches; exposed wiring?

Pet areas Are these clean, organized and odor free?

Kitchen and bathrooms Are countertops organized? Are all sinks and faucets working properly?

Other rooms Have all areas been thoroughly vacuumed and dusted? Has all clutter, including excess furniture, been collected and removed? Are books, toys, clothes all neatly stored? Do mirrors look clean? Are window coverings open?

Outside the home Are all exterior surfaces, including decks, pools, walkways and driveways clean, clear of clutter and in good condition? Do fence and other gates open easily? Are the lawns mowed, walkways clear of snow, leaves removed, trees pruned, garden weeded, hedges trimmed?
