With deals this good, customers tend to get a little enthusiastic. It's no wonder because every one of our cars is carefully selected and must pass our 110-point mechanical, appearance and detail inspection before it ever goes on the lot. If it fails, we won't sell it. We back that up with a 30-day or 2500 km exchange policy, a 6-month or 10,000 km powertrain warranty and a 30-day mechanical warranty. And we put it in writing. So relax. There are enough cars and deals for everyone until the end of February.

New wine law could increase drunk driving: MADD

By HOWARD MOZEL
Special to The Champion

Jeff Gareau says he's disappointed by new provincial bring-your-own-wine (BYOW) regulations, not only as president of MADD Halton/Peel but also as a citizen of Ontario.

"Making it easier for people to consume wine at participating establishments will only serve to decrease public safety on our roads," he said.

The new law permits licensed restaurants and banquet rooms in hotels and motels to allow customers to bring their own bottle of wine. It also permits all licensed establishments to allow their customers to remove an unfinished bottle of wine that they either brought with them or ordered as part of their meal (what the Province is calling Take Home the Rest, or THTR).

Establishments are also allowed to determine and charge what's called a "corkage fee" for providing BYOW.

Mr. Gareau maintained that increased alcohol consumption will result if inadequate corkage fees aren't implemented to "curb the drinking of cheap alcohol," he said.

The result of this, he continued, will be more impaired driving offences.

"Many of the minor infractions might never cause harm, God-willing, but inevitably some of these offences will lead to accidents with injuries and possibly even fatalities," he said.

"Ask any relative or friend of a person who has been seriously injured or killed by an impaired driver and you will find that the vast majority are against offering a cheaper way of consuming wine outside of the home. Drinking is a private matter where one can drink all they want inside their own homes, but outside of the home irresponsible drinking can be deadly."

Mr. Gareau said he's also worried about the ability of owners and servers to keep tabs on the alcohol content of wines customers bring in as well as limiting consumption.

"It is difficult for me to visualize the situation where a customer is drinking their own wine to surfeit and a staff member or owner coming over to the table indicating that customer will have to stop drinking wine that they have brought from home," he said.

According to the Province, licencees are required to open BYOW bottles for all patrons while these establishments continue to be responsible for ensuring that over-consumption doesn't occur. Licencees are also prohibited from serving intoxicated patrons. In addition, THTR discourages excessive consumption, said the Province, by allowing patrons to take home a resealed, unfinished bottle of wine.

Along with BYOW and THTR, several changes have been made to increase public safety, maintained the Province. The first allows the Registrar of Alcohol and Gaming to immediately suspend a liquor licence "in the public interest," such as sit-
