Councillors and staff get mileage increase

Milton council gave themselves and Town staff a slight increase in their mileage and car allowance rates Monday night.

Council supported a 2.24 per cent increase to both rates. For mileage this equates to 45.7 cents per kilometre, up from 44.7 cents. Milton Mayor Gord Krantz's car allowance went from $429 a month to $439 and CAO Mario Belvedere's allowance was increased from $475 to $486. The new rates are effective May 1.

Staff reviewed information from the Canadian Automobile Association, the current rates in Halton municipalities and Revenue Canada numbers to come up with the recommended increase. The current instability of gas prices was also taken into consideration.

Council also endorsed an additional reimbursement of five cent per kilometre for building inspectors.

"Staff has reviewed the different driving condition on a daily basis for the building inspectors," a report from Town Director of Corporate Services and Treasurer Jim McQueen said. "This group of employees spend about 75 per cent of their time on job sites and their vehicle becomes not only their mode of transportation but also their workplace at times to do paperwork."

The report noted in light of this, building inspectors' adverse driving conditions and higher cost of business insurance, the extra five cents was being recommended.

Acquiring three leased economy cars for bylaw and parking enforcement officers to use was also authorized.

Mr. McQueen's report said that these service areas require the use of vehicles on a constant basis, noting the "use of Town identified vehicles is deemed essential in the bylaw and parking enforcement area."

Mr. McQueen said staff will go out to tender for the vehicles. A price for the cars isn't known yet but is expected to be covered by existing mileage budgets.

Historic house damaged in blaze

A Campbellville house built in the 1800s sustained extensive damage in an early Thursday morning blaze that took firefighters several hours to battle.

The owner of the Main Street home called firefighters at about midnight to report a fire behind his fireplace.

A spokesperson from the Milton Fire Department said the homeowner had noticed smoke in the house about 20 minutes before, but thought it was coming from the fireplace.

Firefighters arrived to find a fire in the rear wall, roof and attic of the home, and crews from three stations worked for several hours before the fire was finally brought under control.

Damage to the home is pegged at about $100,000.

Fortunately, there were no injuries in the fire.
