Crawford Lake celebrates kids with host of activities June 5

Mothers have a day. Fathers have a day. Heck, even groundhogs have a day. Finally it's kids' turn.

Crawford Lake Conservation Area is holding its Kids' Day celebration June 5 from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Families will be able to explore Crawford Lake's Iroquoian Village and take a step back in time.

Chief Top Leaf (Albert McArdle) of the Mohawk Nation will be on hand to help kids of all ages "Look, listen and learn" about

First Nations culture.

And kids will be able to further explore the village by participating in simulated archeological digs throughout the day.

Also part of the festivities will be a free marshmallow roast, nature face painting, storytelling by the lake, craft-making in the Gathering Place and corn, bean and squash planting.

Kids will be able to wrap up their day by participating in the Crawford Lake Quest, a scavenger hunt that'll lead them to a prize they can take home.

Admission costs $6 per person and is free for kids four and younger.

Crawford Lake Conservation Area is located at the corner of Steeles Avenue and Guelph Line, about five kilometres south of Hwy. 401.

Kelso gearing up for a new season

The snow has melted and the water levels of Kelso Lake — as well as the temperatures — are on the rise.

Kelso Conservation Area is ready to welcome outdoor enthusiasts who want to explore the hiking and mountain biking trails and discover the solitude of Kelso Lake.

Those who enjoy fishing will be able to cast a line to see if the trout are biting, as Kelso opened for trout season last weekend. The lake was stocked with 8,000 rainbow trout last spring as a follow up of the stocking the year before.

Park visitors can rent a canoe, paddleboat or kayak. Admission costs $4.25 per adult, $3 per child and $3.50 per senior. Children four and younger are free.

Kelso Conservation Area is located at Tremaine Road and Steeles Avenue. For more information, call (905) 878-5011, ext. 221 or visit www.conservationhalton.on.ca.
