Gina Sonsogno shows a copy of her learn-to-read book, My Child is Learning 2001 Ways.

Author on hand to sign new book

Local author Gina Sonsogno will be at Milton Mall Sunday to sign and sell copies of her learn-to-read book, My Child is Learning 2001 Ways.

She'll be near The Source store from 2 to 4 p.m.

Ms Sonsogno published the book out of the grief she felt over her 23-year-old son's suicide five years ago. He suffered from clinical depression.

Some of the proceeds will go toward the Orlando Sonsogno Trust Fund at Milton District Hospital, which was established in hopes of seeing a psychiatric ward built at the hospital.

The book also stems from Ms Sonsogno's desire to help parents and educators teach children to read effectively. As someone who's been teaching for more than 20 years, Ms Sonsogno said the 390-page book is an individualized learning program for pre-school children.

It can also be helpful for people with learning disabilities, developmentally-challenged kids and immigrants learning English, she said.

Part theory, part patterns and samples, the book was written by Ms Sonsogno about 25 years ago when her son, Orlando, was young and she was teaching him to read and write. But it was just recently that she decided to have it self-published.

The book sells for $30.

People who can't make it to the book signing can purchase a copy by phoning Ms Sonsogno at (905) 878-9610 or e-mailing her at The\_Next\_Step\_2001@yahoo.ca.
