Home, Lawn & Garden

The gardening guru's secret:

Fall is a great time to garden

(NC)—Don't let the cooler weather and changing leaves fool you – fall is one of the best times to garden. Not only does fall gardening brighten up your yard one last time before winter, it also sets the stage for an early start on spring.

According to John Mansz, gardening expert for The Home Depot Canada, "Planting shrubs, perennials and bulbs during the fall is an easy way to add colour to your yard and flower beds, while extending your typically short Canadian gardening season."

To get the garden your neighbours will envy, it's simply a matter of taking some time to plan the end of the season and the start of the next. The Home Depot Canada has compiled a three-step checklist to help bring out your inner guru:

- Add colour: Consider shrubs with berries like pyracanthas and cotoneasters to maintain the vitality of your garden going into winter. Tip: trim the berries and use them to decorate holiday tables.

- Plan ahead for spring: Dig at least 12 to 14 inches into the soil to give bulbs the space they need to thrive and add organic material to enrich soil.

- Get planting: For bright spring flowers, plant daffodils, freesias and sparaxis bulbs. For perennials, choose hardy chrysanthemums or fall asters.
