Down - But Not Out!

Life's circumstances can knock us down – but they do not have to knock us out!

Struggles at work, strained relationships, stress at home, sagging income, sickness and illness— what happens to us is not always what we invite into our lives! Few of us welcomed the difficult times of sorrow and grief that we have already experienced, yet some are able to look back on their lives and suggest that they are stronger for the journey as a result of their struggles. Those individuals chose to get better through the bad times rather than bitter!

They took the sour lemons of their lives and made refreshing lemonade. They refused to surrender to their negative situation. They realized that their success in life was dependent upon right responses to the unwelcome intrusions for life!

I think of countless individuals who were pummeled by dire circumstances, yet who refused to quit. They had been beaten, but not broken. Consider:

Cripple him — Sir Walter Scott

Deafen him — Ludwig Van Beethoven

Bury him in snow and give him a seemingly hopeless war — George Washington

Raise him in dire poverty — Abraham Lincoln

Strike him with paralysis — Franklin Delano Roosevelt

Burn him so bad that doctors say he'll never walk — Glenn Cunningham, who set a new one mile speed-walking record in 1934

Call him a slow learner, retarded and write him off — Albert Einstein

Call him a college drop out — Bill Gates

There are so many more names that could be added to this list, names of individuals who had been overwhelmed by not overcome. Success in life is determined by about 20% of what happens to us and on 80% of how we respond to what happens to us.

Choosing the right response is often the result of having a proper perspective. The way we view life impacts upon the way that we live life!

When we realize that we are not here by accident or by chance – it impacts upon how we live. When we see that we have hope and a future – it helps us go on.

God has a wonderful plan for our lives – be assured! To learn more about it, visit a local church this week. Service times and locations are published in the Religious Directory below.
