The Halifax native is a graduate of McMaster University, the Atlantic School of Theology and Knox College at the University of Toronto.

Museum celebrates Heritage Day

The Halton Region Museum is opening its doors to the public Sunday in celebration of Heritage Day.

Festivities will include a featured presentation, 'Cultural Gathering Spots of 19th Century Halton', starting at 2 p.m. in the Hearth Room of the historic Alexander Barn located at the museum.

Behind-the-scenes tours of the museum's artifact collection and refreshments will follow at 3 p.m.

"We chose to focus on Halton's cultural buildings to tie in with this year's national Heritage Day theme of cultural heritage buildings," said Karen Bongard, museum program co-ordinator.

"We'll look at a number of historic community hotspots including the Brant Inn, LaSalle Park, Acton Town Hall and Oakville's Murray House Hotel."

Heritage Day was first established in 1973 by the Heritage Canada Foundation to encourage the preservation and promotion of Canada's nationally significant historic, architectural, natural and scenic heritage.

The Halton Region Museum is located inside Kelso Conservation Area at the base of the Glen Eden ski hills. Admission and parking are free.

For more information, contact the museum at (905) 875-2200, ext. 23, or visit www.halton.ca/museum/newsvents.
