OPEN SUNDAYS 11:00 AM TO 4:00 PM

Every one of our cars is carefully selected and must pass our 110-point mechanical, appearance and detail inspection before it ever goes on the lot. If it fails, we won't sell it. We back that up with a 30-day or 2500 km exchange policy, a 6-month or 10,000 km powertrain warranty and a 30-day mechanical warranty. And we put it in writing. Few used car dealerships can offer you that kind of peace of mind. But then again, you would expect a company established in the 60's to be big on peace.

Residents ask government to keep Grits' childcare program

By Melanie Hennessey
CANADIAN CHAMPION STAFF

While it may have been a small group of residents, they certainly delivered a mighty message to Halton MP Garth Turner Tuesday evening — don't allow the Conservatives to renege on the childcare funding deal made by the previous government.

About 25 concerned citizens turned out at the meeting Turner held at Hugh Foster Hall to gather constituents' input on what they'd like to see in the 2006 federal budget, which marks the first Tory budget in 13 years.

Of those in attendance, a handful argued that the Conservatives shouldn't follow through on its plans to scrap an agreement recently made between the federal and provincial governments — a deal that will see millions of dollars spent on a 'Best Start' program, which will do things like create more childcare spaces in schools and increase services for children with special needs.

Ward 4 Councillor Wendy Schau kicked off the childcare discussion, asking that for future budgets, the Conservatives rethink backing out of the agreement. "The best investments we can make are investments in children," she said. "I believe we should follow the agreement that was made."

She noted the women she knows who work were very happy when the childcare agreement was originally made.

Turner said the Conservative philosophy is that the best people to bring up children are parents. The MP pointed out nobody has ever proposed daycare for every child, and only eight to 10 per cent of kids in Halton would find their way into the childcare spaces.

He highlighted the childcare allowance the Conservatives plan to put in place that will see families receive $1,200 per year for each child under six. "What we've said is all parents get a benefit," Turner noted.

But local mom Carol Dougherty told Turner she doesn't need or want that $1,200 to spend on daycare and is instead in favour of the Best Start program.

To illustrate the need for the initiative, she tearfully spoke of students she's seen while volunteering in an area school who are going into kindergarten, but can't even hold a pair of scissors. "I think we have an obligation as a society to do for those who need it most," she said.

Turner once again argued that the government doesn't have enough money to provide daycare for everybody who wants it.
