MILTON DISTRICT HIGH SCHOOL

The grass is green, the trees are growing and flowers are in full bloom. Blooming in the halls of Milton District, are many exciting events. In the coming week especially, MD will be more full than ever as we open our doors for a few very important evenings.

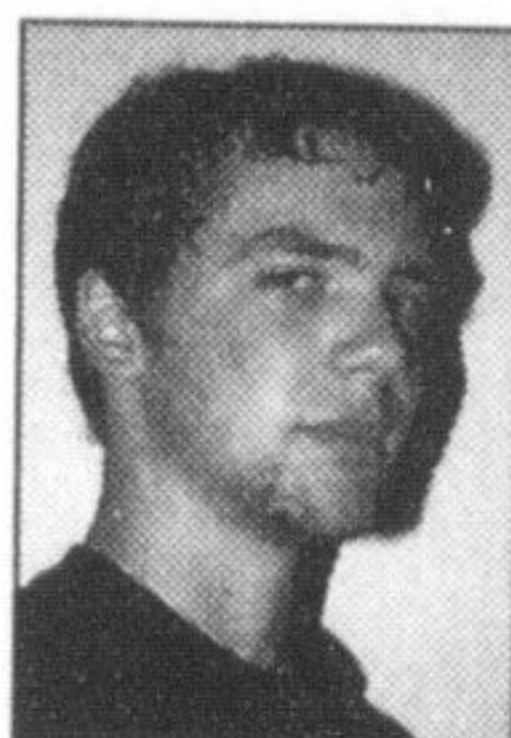

The marathon begins this Thursday evening with Parents' Night. As everyone is surely aware, midterm reports were sent home early last week and students have already been seen bringing in requests for interviews with several teachers. Many of the teachers' schedules for the evening are filling up quickly so be sure to sign up soon for your own interview. Didn't know about parents' night? Are you unable to book an appointment before Thursday night? Fear not, there will be informal interviews starting at 6:30 that evening, where parents are able to meet and speak to their sons' or daughters' marks.

Since it seems that many parents and family members will be at the school, Thursday evening, it would be a spectacular time to catch this semester's play Scapino. Students have been working long and hard to put together what will undoubtedly be a marvellous show for all ages! Perhaps Thursday night is already too busy for you. If this is the case, then there is still no reason to worry, since the play will also be performed on two alternate nights. Be sure to talk to an MD student to get your tickets, or swing by the school during periods three and four, when tickets are being sold in the front foyer.

If you are looking more for a treat for the ears, then be sure to mark May 31st on your calendars! This year's annual Spring Concert will be held on that night and it too, promises to be an amazing showcase of the talent of our Mustangs. Senior bands, junior bands, small ensembles and a choir: no matter where your taste in music falls, there will surely be something to please everyone.

Equally pleasing, is the fact that seniors are able to breathe a little easier, knowing that midterm marks have been passed on to post-secondary schools for processing. Many students, junior and senior alike, will unquestionably be hoping to spend a little time in the coming weeks, basking in the sun and gloriously warm weather. And so, we will keep you no longer, from that tempting lawn chair in the lovely spring weather. Enjoy!

E is for Entertainment. Mr. Keane's grade twelve English class had the time of their lives on April 26th when they attended the Shaw Festival in Niagara-on-the-Lake. The students had fun wandering the town and having lunch, and eagerly awaited the beginning of the play, High Society. Although the play was met with mixed reviews, none can deny that it was a great experience.

C is for Costumes. On April 21st, Mrs. Squires's grade eleven English class put on a Great Gatsby-themed costume party. After reading the popular novel and watching the screen adaptation, the students got together to organize an exciting event full of fun and games. They learned to dance the Charleston and partied throughout third period.

D is for Donations. All throughout the week students have been generously making donations to the Halton Women's Place. A giant box was placed in the middle of the Locker Bay in which students deposited blankets, toys and other soft products. These products will be offered to abused women getting on their own two feet after violent relationships or environments. The organization is dedicated to eradicating violence against women and their children.

R is for Reward. Sign-ups for the Annual 30 Hour Famine began on May 2nd in the Locker Bay. The Famine itself will take place on May 12th and 13th, and students are urged to fundraise as vigorously as they can. The money goes toward a great cause: hopefully making poverty history. Don't delay in signing up and taking part in this amazing event. The personal rewards are definitely worth it.

U is for University. For those students who will be attending University or College next year, don't hesitate to complete all your requirements. The second half of the semester has begun, and your hard work isn't over yet. Keep those grades up and get involved in school activities!

R is for Relaxation. Despite the fact that more hard work is needed before the end of the school year, don't forget to relax every now and then. Get out a good book or hang around with your friends. High School isn't just about the academics, and students at Drury know that in order to succeed, you must also know how to let loose.

Y is for You. E.C. Drury is all about the students. It is a place in which students of every race and age can come and go have a blast. Get involved in events like the 30 Hour Famine and take advantage of school field trips to the theater, but don't forget to study! These truly are some of the best years of your life!

BISHOP REDING HIGH SCHOOL

As the time ticks by, more and more events are on-the-go. This week is full of exciting field trips, and some events to look forward to. We hope everyone is expanding their minds by engaging in some extracurricular activities- whether this is a field trip, a club or a social event. Here's the highlights from the past week, and the week to come....

On Wednesday April 26, twenty Bishop Reding students ventured with Mr. Gallant to Saint Thomas Aquinas for the Connections Conference. Unlike past conferences, this year's event became a competition with two teams of ten from each school battling for first place in activities that encompassed everything from athletics to history. The day started off with an inspirational speech from Joe Rasso, who is the coach of the McMaster Basketball Team. The Connections Conference gave students the opportunity to meet people from other schools and to utilize their logical, creative, and competitive skills. A special thank you to Mr. Gallant and all students who were involved in the planning of this special event!

Bishop Reding likes to ensure that its students receive all types of tools to enhance their learning. One of these tools happens to be field trips, where concepts learned in a classroom can be applied in the real world. This past week, many fortunate students grade tens went on a history trip. On Monday April 24 and Friday April 28, the two history classes had the opportunity to visit the holocaust center. During this trip, students were able to listen to a lecture given by an actual holocaust survivor, who told a first hand account of the atrocities committed in the Second World War. The next exciting trip was a trip to the Cathedral of Christ the King. This excursion, for Mrs. Krudwig's religion students, was certainly informative. Last Thursday, Mr. Vacca's grade eleven ancient history students enjoyed attending Medieval Times. Between the jousting and sword fights, students had no problem putting themselves back into the middle ages.

This weekend is the much anticipated school play! On Friday May 5 and Saturday May 6th, The Pirates of Penzance will be performed at 7:00 pm. Tickets are $8 for students and $10 for adults. On May 1 it will be performed for our feeder school grade eights, and on May 2 it will be performed for Bishop Reding's grade nine. This play is about a sweet young lad who gets accidentally involved with a group of orphan pirates. The pirates soon meet a family of beautiful sisters, and make every attempt to wed them. This play is packed with beautiful voices and Ms. Marsalek's amazing choreography. A note to all of our readers- you will regret it if you miss seeing Mark Steinhouser as the Pirate King!

With all this excitement, we have one more exciting piece of news to share. On Monday April 24 at Holy Trinity in Oakville, the Sharing the Spirit Award was presented to Lauren Prisniak. Congratulations to Lauren- we hope she will inspire some random acts of kindness among the student body. Your Inside Sources wish to leave you with one thought: sometimes it only takes one smile or kind word to make someone's day. Best wishes to all in the coming week!
