Restaurant gets jazzy tonight

Excitement is growing over Milton's first-ever jazz bar, especially for hometown musicians like Christopher Willes.

Willes, a saxophone player, will perform tonight at South 202 Mediterranean Cuisine and Jazz Bar with the Christopher Willes Trio at 8 p.m.

Since its opening a few months ago, the restaurant, located at 202 Main St. E., has been featuring different jazz artists each weekend. Patrons are welcome to enjoy dinner in the bistro and then move upstairs for some drinks and music.

Willes is in his third year at the University of Toronto's jazz performance program, and plays in some of the city's top jazz clubs, including Opals Lounge on Queen Street, where he performs every Thursday.
