Another power plant proposed in Milton

By Melanie Hennessey
 CANADIAN CHAMPION STAFF

A second power plant has been proposed for lands in Milton, this time on the outskirts of town near Trafalgar Road.

Plans for the 600-megawatt Auburn Energy Centre, which could generate enough electricity for 600,000 homes each year, have been put forward by EPCOR Utilities Inc.

The company is looking to build the natural gas-fired power plant on a 20-acre site on Auburn Road, located south of Hwy. 401, east of Trafalgar Road and west of Eighth Line.

"We want to have the opportunity to join the community," said Neil Levine, EPCOR's manager of public and government affairs.

EPCOR is currently undertaking an environmental screening and review for the development, construction and commissioning of the plant. It reports the preliminary issues that've been identified to address deal with air, noise and water.

So while information on emissions from the centre is still being gathered, Levine noted that certain standards will have to be met.

"We're committed to meeting or bettering all provincial requirements," he said.

If approved, EPCOR intends to start construction of the plant in 2007 and have it operational by 2009. The centre would include a number of exhaust stacks, but how many and their heights are still undetermined.

Levine said at the moment EPCOR is trying to meet as many people in the community to gather their thoughts on the proposal.

"It's very important to us to be a good neighbour," he said.

A public information session on the potential plant will be held September 7 from 4 to 8 p.m. at the Milton Leisure Centre.

Those who attend will have a chance to provide input, meet the project team and review the environmental study's scope.

The plans come in response to the Ontario Power Authority (OPA) request for proposals for a new local generating station, since more power is needed for the GTA.

EPCOR is one of six companies that have qualified to put forward proposals for similar hydro generating plants that would be located in Milton or Halton Hills.

A public meeting has already been held for one in the Hornby area of Halton Hills and another at the terminus of Main Street just east of Fifth Line in Milton, but details on the other three haven't been made public yet.

The OPA will ultimately award one of the companies with a contract.
