

Today is International Literacy Day — help someone learn to read

Why not celebrate today being International Literacy Day by helping someone learn to read?

Literacy North Halton (LNH) is inviting residents to become members of the organization and help support literacy in the community.

LNH is a community-based organization, providing individualized tutoring to adults. Volunteers help clients with such tasks as reading to their children, understanding the dosage on a medicine bottle and finding jobs.

For further information about volunteering to tutor, call (905) 873-2200, or visit www.literacynh.org.

Look in Tuesday's and Friday's paper each week for these features. Delivered to every home in Milton, Campbellville, Homby. The Canadian Champion
